The kind of woman that nobody overlooks or forgets.

A sensible character, worldly-wise, shrewd and capable, with a well-stocked mind, much experience of life, a deep understanding of the human element, a fund of courage, cheerfulness and humour, a long memory, a very tolerant and kindly viewpoint, and both business and financial acumen. Free from all personal ambition, but keenly alive, interested, interesting, and the kind of woman that nobody overlooks or forgets.

The above is a Delineation of a reader's character from her handwriting. See others in the Weekly Irish Times

RELICS OF "POET SOLDIER."

FINGER-NAILS AND HAIR TO BE ENSHRINED.

According to Japanese custom, a lock of hair and the finger-nails of the late Field-Marshal Baron Nobuyoshi Muto have been brought to Hsinking (Manchuquo) from Japan, where the Marshal was recently buried.

It is expected, states Reuter, that the hair and finger-nails will be enshrined in the memorial to Japan's dead soldiers in the Manchurian war, which it is proposed to erect there.

Marshal Muto died at Hsinking on July 27, at the age of 65. The supreme commander of Japan's civil and military forces in Manchuria, he was known as the "poet soldier," owing to his simple tastes and love of poetry.

WORLD'S "RECORD" TUNA CAUGHT.

AMERICAN LANDS 1,050LB. FISH.

Coincident with the recent heavy catches of tuna in the North Sea comes news of what is believed to be a world's "record" capture of a 1,050lb. tuna off Nova Scotia.

The huge fish, states a message received by the London office of the Canadian National Railways, was caught off Liverpool, N.S., by Captain Joe Penny, of that port. Three others were caught the same day averaging 700 pounds apiece.

The railway is providing a special case to convey the record tuna to Toronto, where it will be placed on exhibition. Seven hundred pounds of ice packing will be required for the journey.

WITHOUT WATER FOR THIRTY YEARS.

MOUNTAIN WARRIOR OF 130.

The "Re man" of a remote village in the Montenegrin Mountains, near Adrijevitza, is Hadji-Jusuf Kozara. He says that he is 130 years old.

When he was 100 he gave up drinking water, because he said it did not agree with him. He is a teetotaller, too, and is totally blind.

When Montenegro declared war on Germany in 1915, states Reuter from Belgrade, the old warrior was one of the first to volunteer. He was turned down owing to "short-sightedness." Kozara still persists that the authorities were short-sighted, too, because during a life-time of hunting he has killed thousands of wolves, deer, hares, foxes, wild goats, and half-a-dozen bears.

A CUT-PRICE TRADER.

ALLEGATIONS OF FRAUD.

BIG STORES IN A PRIVATE HOUSE.

NORMAN SOLOMON, of Hillcrest avenue, Leeds, director of a firm of cut-price traders, was charged at Leeds yesterday with offences relating to the alleged fraudulent removal and disposal of goods to prevent distraint.

The hearing was adjourned until October 24, Solomon being allowed bail.

Mr. C. J. Frankland, prosecuting, said that in addition to three shops in York and one in Leeds owned by the company—a one-man affair, registered as "N. Solomon, Ltd."—Solomon had a shop on his private account at Darlington, and between them there had been a series of cross dealings in vast quantities of goods. There had been a very large turnover. The company went into liquidation, with liabilities of £3,300 and a deficiency of just under £1,700, Solomon claiming to have lent the company £582 and his wife claiming for a loan of £109.

Counsel said that at the creditors' meeting Solomon declared that he had disclosed the whereabouts of all the goods and had indicated all the dealings with his Darlington shop, but later intensive inquiries revealed a very lamentable state of affairs.

It appeared that a lorry-driver and warehouseman named Newsome, employed by Solomon, was instructed by Solomon to clear stuff out of the York shops and a warehouse in Hull and take it to Solomon's garage in Leeds, Solomon adding: "And don't make a song about it."

WHAT GARAGE CONTAINED.

The garage was filled with goods from end to end and floor to ceiling, and Newsome was told: "You have seen nothing; you know nothing."

Solomon was arrested two months later. At that time the garage was empty, but the destination of some of the goods taken from there had been traced to Darlington.

In the nursery of Solomon's house were found 594 pounds of tea, 2,488 tins of fruit and milk, 588 pounds of chocolate, 3,797 bars and cartons of soap, 2,263 bars and tablets of chocolate, and a cash register.

Solomon's explanation of these was that he had brought them from his own shop at Darlington; but that "was a lie," said counsel, because the goods could be identified by markings as having been taken from Hull to York and Leeds.

The facts, added Mr. Frankland, revealed "a carefully thought out and boldly executed crime."

Evidence by wholesale firms and manufacturers identifying goods was called.

Mr. Oswald Coope, incorporated accountant, Leeds, said that on Solomon telling him he had no clerical staff at his shops for keeping books it was arranged that witness should be supplied with weekly statements to keep a record, but he had no means of checking the figures given him by Solomon.

AN OFFER WITHDRAWN.

Mr. R. C. Davies (defending)—Do you know that what happened and what finally brought the crash was that defendant's brother in Manchester offered to lend him £1,000, on which offer defendant issued cheques, and, while these were amounting to between £400 and £500, the offer was cancelled? The cheques were dishonoured, and everybody came down on him, whereupon he insisted on the company going into liquidation.

Mr. Coope—He did insist on going into liquidation, but I advised him to carry on.

Re-examined by Mr. Frankland, Mr. Coope said Solomon gave him no explanation as to the complete change from great prosperity in February, 1932, to loss in the same month this year, except saying, "Things have gone wrong at York."

HUSBAND DECLINES TO TAKE WIFE BACK.

IRISHWOMAN WHO THREATENED SUICIDE.

A husband's refusal to allow his wife to return to him because he said that she had threatened to commit suicide three or four times led the Chairman at Southport (Lancs.) Police Court yesterday to remark:—"I cannot imagine a husband so absolutely devoid of any spark of humanity."

The couple, it was stated, had been married ten months.

The wife, Nancy McDonnell (21), of no fixed address, was accused of attempted suicide by throwing herself into a lake.

When she was previously in court it was stated that, when arrested, she said she threw herself in to frighten her husband. She became hysterical in court, shouting and screaming, and the magistrates remanded her in custody for a medical observation.

Yesterday the Chairman (Alderman E. Trounson) said that, from a medical report, the magistrates were satisfied that the sorry exhibition last time was a temporary matter.

Mrs. McDonnell said that she would give an undertaking to control herself in future, and added that she wanted to go back to her husband.

When asked if he would take her back, the husband replied:—"No. She has threatened to commit suicide three or four times by throwing herself out of a bedroom window. One night I had to stop up to prevent her doing it."

The Clerk—"What do you think is going to happen to her when you calmly come here and say you won't look after her?"

Mr. McDonnell—"I looked after her until she tried to get a maintenance order and a separation order, and threatened to commit suicide."

The court missionary said that it might be possible to get McDonnell into a Roman Catholic home, but she protested again that she only wanted to go back to her husband.

On the husband still refusing to take her back, the Chairman said:—"I cannot imagine a husband so absolutely devoid of any spark of humanity. Your wife, like others, has done wrong, but she has shown affection for you that I have scarcely ever met with before, and yet you will not help her." The girl said that she could not go back to her parents in Ireland because they disapproved of the marriage.

The magistrates decided to adjourn the case until to-morrow to enable a missionary to get into touch with certain parties.

MAN OF MANY CAREERS.

FOREIGN LEGIONNAIRE AND HANDY MAN.

At the Bournemouth Police Court yesterday, Charles Hayward Dawes (32), formerly employed as a handy man by Mr. S. F. Rumsey, of Moorland road, Bournemouth, was sentenced to six months' hard labour for the theft of jewellery and other articles, valued at £80, belonging to his employer.

A native of Birmingham, Dawes was stated to have gone to sea as a trimmer, and then served in the Royal Navy. He was a cleaner on the Southern Railway for two years, and later served six years in the Grenadier Guards. After being employed at Covent Garden, he served two and a half years in the French Foreign Legion, subsequently becoming a circus worker prior to taking a job at Bournemouth.

A charge against his wife, Ellen Beatrice Dawes (28), of being jointly concerned in the thefts was dismissed, her husband taking full responsibility for them.

CHARGES AGAINST BOARD.

A letter was received from the Local Government Department at a meeting of the North Cork Board of Health stating that Messrs. Skinner and Sons, solicitors, Mitchelstown, had requested a sworn inquiry into the appointment of tenants for the Board's houses at Charleville on the grounds that the appointments were made on political grounds, and lists submitted by the Charleville Medical Officer of Health and County Medical Officer of Health were ignored.

By four votes to two the Board decided to take no action.

WOMEN OFFICIALS DISAGREE.

PIQUANT SITUATION IN LONGFORD.

When the members of the Longford Board of Health met on Monday the two ladies associated with the secretarial department, —Mrs. Brady, the General Secretary, and Miss C. A. Wilson, Clerk—were in waiting at either end of the Chairman's desk. Miss Wilson asked the Chairman to decide whether she was to act as Clerk or not.

Arising from a previous dispute the Department of Local Government stated that Mrs. Brady, as executive officer, was responsible, and should have complete control, and that Miss Wilson was "assistant to the Secretary."

Mrs. Brady said if the Board wanted to carry out the Minister's instructions, as stated in the letter, they would have to hand over complete control to her.

Mr. Power said he had a notice of motion that Miss Wilson be assigned the duties of clerk-in-charge.

Mrs. Brady said she did not think that if that motion were passed it would change the situation. She would not undertake the responsibility of signing any document until the Board gave her over complete control.

AN ULTIMATUM.

Chairman—That is your ultimatum?

Mrs. Brady—It is.

Chairman—Then any business we do outside that is illegal. I suggest that we adjourn the meeting and ask the Department to adjust the matter.

Miss Wilson—I have no power by myself as clerk-in-charge only to carry out the orders of the Board. There is nothing to prevent Mrs. Brady being present at all the meetings. My only desire is to keep the work which I am doing, and which I know. I do not think there is anything illegal in my acting as Clerk. There is no doubt about it, I am the properly appointed Clerk.

Mr. Carter—Since Miss Wilson started everything has been most satisfactory.

A resolution, proposed by Mr. McDermott and seconded by Messrs. Power and Kane, was passed that Miss Wilson continue at her present duties, Mrs. Brady to sign the documents and to be present at the meetings, if she so desired.

Mrs. Brady then retired to the office.

Subsequently Miss Wilson said it would be necessary that Mrs. Brady be present to sign certain documents in connection with loans, including a declaration by the Secretary that she was present at the meeting and saw the formalities carried out.

Mrs. Brady was sent for, and she refused to sign the documents.

Mr. McDermott protested against her action, and proposed that her attitude be reported by telephone to the Department.

Mr. Carter—Is Mrs. Brady going to run this county or are we, the representatives of the people?

Miss Wilson telephoned to the Department to know if she could sign the documents, and received a reply that a ruling would be communicated by the responsible official there.

Mr. Carter handed in a notice of motion, signed by himself and other members, that an inquiry be called for regarding the Secretary's action, but the Chairman refused to accept it, stating they would have the Department's ruling.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

LARCENY ALLEGED.

AGENT SENT FOR TRIAL.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

Peter McGrann, described as an assistant live stock shipping agent, of Lower Buckingham street, was returned for trial to the Circuit Court in his own bail of £50 and one surety of £50, charged with the larceny and illegal possession of a motor car battery, value £6, the property of Alfred J. Grace, of "Charleville," Wynnefield road, Rathmines, last Sunday morning.

It was stated in the course of evidence that the defendant had said that on last Saturday night a man gave him the battery on Eden quay to take to a garage in Foley street, and instead of doing the job at once he went drinking with a friend.

Mr. E. H. Burne, solicitor, defended.

MISSING JEWELLERY.

John Kennedy (32), whose address was given as the Morning Star Hostel, was charged with the larceny from a bedroom in 20 Molesworth street of a gold watch, a gold ring, a half-sovereign, gold tie-pin, cigarette case, silver watch and cheque book, value in all about £14, and with illegally pawning the half-sovereign for 10s.

In the course of evidence it was stated that the room from which the articles were taken was in the same house as the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the hall door was open during the day.

The accused man was remanded until Thursday.

ALLEGED HOUSE-BREAKING.

Wm. H. Johnston (17), of no occupation or fixed address, was charged on remand with breaking into the licensed premises of Mr. Cornelius O'Dwyer, of Railway House, Raheny, and stealing from the end of a bed in which Mr. O'Dwyer was sleeping a trousers containing 5s. in silver, a cheque book and two keys.

A further charge of stealing a bicycle from the premises of Mr. John Moran, Stapolin, Raheny, near Mr. O'Dwyer's publichouse, was now preferred against defendant.

After evidence, Detective Officer Fennell said that other inquiries were necessary, and he wished to communicate with Cavan, from which defendant was said to have come.

The defendant was remanded for a week in custody.

FROM THE LEGAL DIARY.

LAW NOTICES—Tuesday, 26th September.

MARRIAGE TO DUBLIN GIRL.

CHARGE OF ARMY DESERTION AT CHELSEA.

H. L. Forsyth (28), who, on September 18, was charged before a courtmartial at Chelsea with desertion, has been found guilty of being absent without leave and sentenced to undergo detention for 28 days.

At the courtmartial it was stated that Forsyth had paid his own expenses from South Africa a year ago to join the 2nd Battalion Scots Guards. Forsyth's explanation was that he had arranged to marry a girl in the Irish Free State, but at the last moment could not obtain leave.

Eventually he obtained a long week-end leave and went to Dublin, where he tried to straighten things out, but everyone seemed to think he was trying to get out of the marriage, and he decided to remain.

He got married, returned to Chelsea, and reported himself. He was absent from August 5th to September 5th.

WELL-KNOWN MOTOR CYCLIST KILLED.

Frederick Delfs (24), of Padsey, Evesham, well-known in British amateur motor cycle competitions and trials, was instantly killed yesterday when he collided with an omnibus.

Delfs had won many trophies in trials, his most recent success being at Evesham Auto Club's Cotswold Trial, in which he was the only competitor to finish.

BIRKENHEAD.—On offer, 452 Irish cattle and 325 lambs. A slow, steady trade prevailed for the cattle on offer, and best quality strong bullocks were more easily sold. Choice small bullocks and heifers made up to 64d., strong and secondary classes 54d. to 54d., cows and bulls 54d. to 4d. Lambs 5d. to 5½d., as the late prices and 8d. to 8½d.—all quotations per lb., sinking the offal.

WAKEFIELD.—Quiet trade. Small sheep 9½d. per lb., medium 9d., large 8½d., ewes and tups 3d. to 6d., lambs 10d. to 10½d. Best English cattle 7d. to 7½d., secondary quality 6d., inferior to 6d.; Irish, 6d. to 6½d. Cattle, 333; sheep, 895.

HULL.—Trade a little better. Best beef 35/-, secondary quality 30/- to 32/-, young cows 26/-, older 22/- to 24/- per cwt. Small pigs 8/6, baconers 7/6 to 8/- per stone. Young sheep 8d., ewes 6d. per lb.

MERKLANDS.—887 fat Irish cattle offered. Quality generally rather lower. Some top-class bullocks realised 35/-, but prices generally ranged between 26/- and 32/- per live cwt. Best bulls to 24/-. Arrivals, 1,113, included 503 Dublin, 129 Limerick, 96 Waterford, 80 Sligo, 48 Cork, 153 Belfast, 104 Derry.

BIRMINGHAM PIG.—Fair to good supply, with a variable demand reported, being slow to fair, but prices generally rather lower. Some top-class bullocks realised 35/-, but prices generally ranged between 26/- and 32/- per live cwt. Best bulls to 24/-. Arrivals, 1,113, included 503 Dublin, 129 Limerick, 96 Waterford, 80 Sligo, 48 Cork, 153 Belfast, 104 Derry.

MANCHESTER PIG.—Shipments from Ireland for the week ended September 16th totalled 1,319, as compared with 1,168 in the previous week and 1,647 at the corresponding period of last year. The Government's pig raising scheme continues to cause a very unsettled feeling in this centre. Great uncertainty prevails with regard to baconers, and quotations for all descriptions remain nominal.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN SLOW.

RAILS STRONGER.

Dublin Stock Market opened the new account in languid fashion. Business was on an even smaller scale than on the closing days of the last account, and outside the section for railway stocks, there was little or no activity. Many securities were marked ex dividend, including the Second Free State Loan, which came to business at 110. War Loan was easier.

Corporation stocks repeated former prices, and Banks were unchanged, except for a rise of sixpence in Munster and Leinsters.

The feature of Rails was a rise of 2½ points in Great Northern Guaranteed to 25. Great Southern Ord. rose ¾ to 27½, and the Guaranteed also improved the same amount. The Debs. rose a small fraction to 50. Dublin Tram Ord. repeated 80s., and the "B" Debs. lost ¼ at 88½.

Dublin Distillers "A" shares were once more raised to 7s. 10½d. on London buying, and closed ninepence better. Guinness units put on a few halfpence at 95s. 6d., and Castlebellingham Ord. and Pref. repeated last prices. Alliance Gas at 13/- was ⅛ to the good, and Burke Pref. rose ninepence to 42s. 6d. Bolands Pref. at 10½ improved ⅛, and Inglis Ord. gave way to 95s. McBirney Ord. and Todd Burns Debs. were unchanged.

A rise of sixpence in Coats Ord. was the only change worth noting in the Industrial section, and the small "other business done" list was featureless.

LONDON FIRMER.

KAFFIRS RALLY.

Generally quiet conditions characterised the opening of the new account in the London Stock Markets yesterday, and during the morning a rather irregular tendency was apparent. Later, however, business became more active, and there was a corresponding improvement in values, so that the list of price movements returned at the close made a satisfactory showing, with a number of outstanding features of strength in evidence. Kaffirs provided the feature, a late recovery following initial weakness. In the early dealings quotations were scaled down sharply, due to the failure of the Chamber of Mines and the Mine Workers' Union to find a basis of agreement regarding the Rand strike, but in the afternoon reports reached the market that work would probably be resumed this morning, and prices rallied sharply, the initial losses being replaced in many instances by improvements, and the market closed on a firm note.

Although the Gilt-edged market could not be described as active, quite a good investment demand was forthcoming, and the tendency was to raise levels. Local Loans were a good feature, buying sending the quotation ⅛ higher to 86½, while Consols 2½ per cent. and 4 per cent. were ⅛ and ⅛ firmer respectively. War Loan 3½ per cent. and the 3 per cent. and 3½ per cent. Conversion Loans were each the turn firmer, whilst others were steady at the week-end rates. Trading remained on narrow lines among Foreign Government Stocks, and an irregular tone prevailed. German Bonds rallied strongly in the afternoon, the Sevens finishing 1½ points harder at 70, while the 5½ gained a similar amount to 46½. French Fours and Chinese 5 per cent., 1912, were a trifle on the right side, but Brazilians weakened all round, while Japanese Sixes lost the turn. A dull note ruled among British Rails at the outset, fractional recessions being general, but, subsequently, the tone improved, and there was a slightly wider business in progress, and the markets closed on a steady note at much the same levels as ruled at the week-end. Colonial and Foreign Rails attracted wider attention, and values appreciated in a number of instances. "Bags," B. Western, and Central Argentine Ord. all finished a full point up. "Can Pacs" were another good market, rallying to 15½, this leaving them ⅝ better on the day. American Rails made some recovery from the sharp set-back on Friday last, and prices were from 1 to 4 points firmer all round.

The Industrial Market presented an irregular appearance for the greater part of the day, but towards the end some improvement was apparent. Spillers, Molasses, Distillers, and Paton and Baldwins were firm spots, but Carreras and Cables and Wireless remained dull. The trans-Atlantics improved, following the latest advices from Wall street. Mines, as mentioned above, rallied strongly in the later dealings, while Oils presented a firm front. Rubber and Tea issues also disclosed a firmer appearance and a fair business was done.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

IRON AND STEEL ISSUES SUPPORTED.

There was a quiet opening to the new account in the Industrial Market yesterday. In some cases prices presented a firm appearance in response to a moderate demand, but later an irregular tendency developed.

Following the week-end advices from Wall street the trans-Atlantic issues displayed a firm tone, but movements became uncertain in the late dealings. Nickels were seen to advantage at 21¾ and Drugs at 48½, but Steels weakened to 50½, while Radios gave way to 8¾.

Cables and Wireless stocks continued a dull market.

Electrical Equipments with only a few exceptions were firm.

Iron, Coal and Steel shares made a satisfactory showing, encouragement being derived from the increased earnings of the Sheepbridge Coal and Iron Co. Ocean coal came into renewed demand and rose 6d. to 11s. 7½d.

A strong feature was provided among Motor shares by Dennis Bros., which were in good request on favourable anticipations in regard to the forthcoming report. The shares finished with an improvement of 1s. 9d. at 23s. Other firm spots in this section were Singers, which recovered 6d. to 13s. 6d.

Moderate support was forthcoming for Breweries. Courage Ord. further improved to 54s. 6d., and buyers were also in evidence for Watney Deferred and Charringtons. Distillers strengthened to 83s. at one time, but eased somewhat in the late dealings, closing with a net gain of 9d. at 82s. 6d. Dublin Distillers improved to 7s. 9d. and Vancouvers to 10s. 6d.

The Tobacco leaders had an uncertain appearance. Carreras "A" relapsed to 8⅞ during the morning, but later buyers came forward and the price rallied to 9, at which they finished, being ⅛ down on balance. The "B" shares lost 9d. at 22s. 6d., after changing hands up to 23s. 4½d. "Imps" and "Bats" also seemed uncertain, closing at 110s. and 111s. 3d., respectively.

Rayons were looking firmer, with British Celanese issues noticeably favoured. The Ordinary finished 4½d. higher at 15s. 3d., and the First Preference rose 7½d. to 17s. 1½d., the Second Preference hardening to 13s. Canadian Celanese showed a gain of ⅛ at 5½, but American Celanese, after opening at 8⅜, reacted in the "street," to close only ⅛ higher on balance at 8⅛. Courtaulds were unaltered at 38s. 3d.

Textile shares generally lost ground. Bleachers shed 3d. to 10s. 6d., and losses were also seen in Bradford Dyers at 16s. 1½d., and in Calico Printers at 12s. 3d., while Linen Threads were sold, falling 6d. to 27s. 6d. Whitworth and Mitchell remained a dull market, losing another ⅛ to 2⅛. Patons and Baldwins, however, continued to meet with a steady investment demand, and left off with a fresh rise of 6d. at 69s. 6d.

No decided trend was apparent in the Provision and Catering section. Tate and Lyles found renewed support, showing a gain of 7½d. at 79s., and Unilever and Unilever N.V. made headway to a lesser degree.

An irregular tendency was manifest among Miscellaneous descriptions, but movements were not usually large. Triplex Glass, however, were again a good feature. Renewed support left the final price 2s. 9d. higher at 73s. 9d., after allowing for the dividend deduction. Harrisons and Crosfield put on ½ to 3½, and Spillers Ordinary remained in keen request, rising another 6d. to 57s. 6d., while the Deferred advanced 4½d. to 36s. 4½d.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

Firmness was displayed by leading Oil shares at the opening yesterday, the market being favourably influenced by the higher prices quoted for American Oil stocks on Saturday last. Business, however, failed to expand.

There was only a small accumulation of orders over the week-end, and when these had been executed the market became extremely quiet, and, in fact, developed a sagging tendency. Not only was little doing locally, but Continental operators displayed very little interest although the small business which came through from Paris indicated that there was an inclination in that centre to buy Internationals.

In the late dealings dulness was shown by shares such as Royal Dutch and Shells, American advices being of an adverse character. The movements finally recorded were of modest amounts and of a somewhat irregular nature.

RUBBER SHARES BETTER.

Although trading in the Rubber Share Market remained within extremely narrow limits a somewhat firmer tendency prevailed, and the few movements resulting from the day's business were mostly favourable to holders. Quite a fair demand was forthcoming in the raw material department, but after strengthening in the early hours quotations went off again at the end. Spot and September sold 3½d. to 3⅝d. to 3⅜d. per lb., while October to December closed at 3⅝d. per lb. In accordance with expectations, London stocks of rubber were 101 tons higher on the week, but Liverpool stocks were reduced by 201 tons.

Equinoctial Gales.

I have noticed, within the last week or so, that the remarkably accurate weather reports which are broadcasted daily are becoming a little more varied. There is always a good deal of atmospheric commotion at this time of the year for some reason which has never been quite satisfactorily explained. It has been observed that wind-storms, of which the recent gale in the English Channel was an example, occur when the imaginary circle, which the sun appears to describe in the heavens in the course of a year, crosses the terrestrial equator. This happens during March and September, and at these times the combined tidal action of the sun and moon is greater than at any other period of the year. It is assumed that this action exercises some kind of "pull" on the atmosphere, just as it does on the sea. If it were possible to explore the former to its fullest extent, weather forecasting would become comparatively simple. At present, however, the knowledge of the atmosphere which we possess has been aptly described as equal to that which a living creature, condemned to crawl along the bottom of a deep well, would have concerning disturbances on the surface.

A Remarkable Feat.

The late Mrs. Annie Besant possessed a capacity for concentration (writes a correspondent) which was almost uncanny. A friend who accompanied her once on a long railway journey told me that, in order to pass the time, the passengers in the carriage organised a small lottery, the prize to go to the person who made the most accurate guess at the number of the engine which was drawing the train. When the matter was put to the test afterwards, it was found that Mrs. Besant had given the actual number, which consisted of four digits. She declined, however, to accept the prize, and expressed the wish that it should be given to the next in order of accuracy. The number was recorded on a plate on the side of the engine boiler, and, as there was no question of a lottery before the train left the station, there was no reason why the members of the party should have taken particular notice of it. As a matter of fact, none of them had; but, when the question was raised, the intensity of Mrs. Besant's visual memory was such that she was able to construct a detailed mental picture of the station, in which the number of the engine fell into its proper place.

Rush-Lights.

I was interested to find in an old country farmhouse recently some of the small candlesticks which were used for holding rush-lights many years ago. It was the usual practice to peel the rushes and draw them through melted fat, but Gilbert White, of Selborne, suggested an improvement, by which beeswax was used with the fat to make the rush burn longer and give a clearer light. By this method, it was calculated, a fairly large room could be lighted for five hours at the cost of one farthing. In many houses the illumination was increased by the use of girandoles, or small mirrors with sconces, fixed in the corners of the rooms. These devices are still to be found in antique shops, and I have seen them used quite effectively with electric light. Illumination, however, was not the only use to which rushes were put: they were strewn on floors instead of carpets, and, as it was the custom to change only the top layer every few months, it is easy to imagine what the bottom layer was like after a period of years. Indeed, the frequent plagues that decimated Europe during the middle ages have been traced to this insanitary practice.

Christmas Flowers.

Though the ancient Christian feast of Christmas is not yet due, the Dutch people are taking very good care to remind us that it is in the offing. At present everything Dutch is booming—tea from the Dutch possession of Java (President de Valera please note) is becoming popular everywhere, while there is a demand for rubber from the Dutch plantations; and Dutch cheese, Dutch herrings, and a hundred and one other Dutch commodities are all flourishing equally well on the market. Already we in Ireland have received information from the Dutch bulb-growers that tulips for Christmas should be put down now.

Various sorts of bulbs are waiting in Holland, it seems, for an opportunity to brighten our Christmas and beautify our homes. Time was when we relied on holly and mistletoe to do this for us; but now we must have Duc de Berlin brownish red or Duc van Tholl Maximus pure snow white tulips to heighten the effect of our interior decoration.

Christmas hyacinths have become an institution with us, and now comes the good news that these blooms can be grown cheaper than ever since pre-War years. For a small cost you can plant your bulbs to produce a magnificent pale blue hyacinth with a dark centre known as Bismarck. You can also have Lady Derby tulips on your Christmas dinner table, if you plant now.

"Clancy's Cake Walk."

A Dollymount reader wonders what has happened to cause a suspension of operations in connection with the Clontarf sea promenade. Several months ago, in bad weather, the foundations of the concrete retaining wall from Marino to Dollymount were completed, and then work was suspended during the fine weather. From "information received" I am able to reassure my correspondent to some extent. It appears that special machinery had to be designed for dredging the filling material from the foreshore, and that its construction has taken longer than was expected. Now, the City Engineer tells me, the machinery has arrived, and its operation will, doubtless, very soon be a feature of more than local interest in the progress of "Clancy's Cake Walk." It will be the first contrivance of its kind to operate in Ireland.

The Haberdasher.

It is remarkable how many words of obscure origin have passed into familiar language, while many of us who use them have only confused ideas of their meaning. For example, I confess that I found myself at a loss the other day when a friend pointed to a sign over a shop in the city and inquired, "What is the actual meaning of haberdasher?" The word brought to my mind some vague suggestion of a mediæval warrior, although I was aware that in reality it had only to do with odds and ends of tapes and ribbons. A reference to the dictionary unearthed the kindred word "haversack," which explained the military association. This has been traced from the old Icelandic "hafr," oats, and "taska," a bag, and literally means a corn sack, which pedlars found useful in carrying about the wares which are now sold under the name "haberdashery."

The R 101 Anniversary.

On Sunday next, five days before the second anniversary of the crash of the airship R 101 near Beauvais, a memorial to the forty-eight men who lost their lives in one of the saddest accidents in the history of aviation will be unveiled in the presence of Mr. Ramsay Macdonald on the main road at Allonne, a short distance from the spot where the airship burnt itself to a pile of twisted metal. In crossing to France for the ceremony Mr. Macdonald will be paying tribute not only to the gallant gentlemen who formed the airship's crew, on what was to have been her first voyage to India, but to one of his closest friends, Lord Thomson of Cardington, who was participating in the flight in his capacity of Minister of Air. It was only after serving throughout the war—he was a soldier by profession—that Lord Thomson entered politics, joining the Labour Party. In 1923 he became Secretary of State for Air in Mr. Macdonald's first Cabinet, and was raised to the peerage. After the fall of the Ministry he became Chairman of the Royal Aero Club, and resumed his post at the Air Ministry on the return to power of the Labour Government.

FILM OF THE WEEK.

"THE GOOD COMPANIONS."

"The Good Companions," which is being shown this week at the Grafton, is the film version of J. B. Priestley's novel. It is no wonder that the story has made such an appeal; for its moral is that romance and adventure are not far to seek even in the twentieth century—indeed, that they are to be found almost at our doorsteps, if we care to look for them.

Jess Oakroyd leaves his unbearable family and sets out for Bedfordshire with all the air of a Columbus, Inigo Jollifant forsakes the drudgery of his equally unbearable school, and Miss Trant drives off in a second-hand car because there is nothing else left to do. These three start from different parts of England, and their voyages of discovery converge at Rawsley, where they meet the "Dinky Doos," temporarily shipwrecked. From there it becomes a composite voyage, and its happy ending comes after a succession of excitements and reverses. As a mental tonic "The Good Companions" is admirable; it is well to be reassured that ordinary life need not be as "ordinary" as it looks.

This film is an example of how much better some things can be handled by the cinema than by the drama. The stage version was interesting, but rather unsatisfactory; for how could a playwright deal with a story which is so involved and has so many changes of scene? While the theatre tells it so laboriously, the cinema tells it lucidly, from the start of the adventurers down to the fire at the Gatford Hippodrome. The film story has been done really well, and it gets as near to the spirit of the novel as one could desire. Technically it is very ingenious; for the producer has managed to include theme-songs and dancing in a perfectly natural way.

Jessie Matthews, whose career on the screen has only commenced, goes on improving, and as Susie Dean her performance is about the best thing she has done so far. Edmund Gwenn provides a fine piece of characterisation as Jess Oakroyd, while John Gielgud, Mary Glynne, A. W. Baskcomb and Percy Parsons are all good. Miss Matthews, quite naturally, gets most of the limelight, but she is not allowed to spoil the picture by getting too much of it. Altogether, "The Good Companians" looks like being that rare thing—a film that appeals to every taste—and it will deserve every success it attains.

NEW AUTHOR AT THE ABBEY.

"1920," BY FRANK X. O'LEARY.

Gertie Kelleher	Nora O'Mahony
Joan Kelleher	May Craig
Art O'Kane	Denis O'Dea
Liz Ann	Frolie Mulhern
Gerard Hunter	F. J. McCormick

"1920," which is being produced this week at the Abbey Theatre, is the work of a new dramatist, Frank X. O'Leary. It promises quite well for about half its length, after which it takes the wrong turning. It opens in the small town of Kilduff, and, contrary to what one might have expected from the title, the note is one of light comedy. We are introduced to Gertie Kelleher, a flirtatious, but rather charming, young woman; her aunt, two comic postmen, and two elderly ladies of the village (the latter parts being delightfully played by Eileen Crowe and Maureen Delany). The time is 1920, but there is little hint of the troubles, except that the mail has been raided and that Gertie is in love with a Sinn Féiner and an R.I.C. inspector simultaneously. Apart from that, nothing much appears to be happening, but one is content: good characterisation and lively dialogue atone for any lack of action.

Midway through the second act, however, one begins to suspect that all is not well. When the action does start, it is not convincing, and when the characters begin to discuss serious things they forsake naturalism for well-worn generalities about the rights and wrongs of physical force. Gertie definitely decides on the inspector, and the cloven hoof of melodrama appears when Art O'Kane is compelled, at the point of the gun, to listen to letters intended for his rival. There is a good dramatic situation at the end of the play, when Art, for love of Gertie, gets killed while warning Hunter of an ambush; but the curtain falls on Gertie's discovery that she loved Art best after all, which is too sentimental to carry much conviction.

"1920" has a good many faults, but as a first play it is distinctly promising. Mr. O'Leary's construction is very weak, but his dialogue is natural and easy to listen to. He would certainly have done better if he had written a comedy; for he has shown that he can make an audience laugh, and the comic lines in "1920" are quite the best part of the play.

In "Drama at Inish," Nora O'Mahony revealed herself as a new actress with possibilities, and she makes full use of her chances in "1920." Denis O'Dea and May Craig are fairly good in their respective parts, and F. J. McCormick does his best with the R.I.C. inspector, while Maureen Delany, Eileen Crowe and Barry Fitzgerald all make short, but characteristic, appearances. On the whole, however, the honours must go to Frolie Mulhern for a very amusing rendering of Liz Ann, the servant girl.

GRACIE FIELDS AT THE ROYAL.

PLENTY OF GOOD COMEDY.

In the ever-changing firmament of vaudeville there linger always a few steadily-shining lights deserving of the name of stars. The Victorians had them in fair profusion, and the "post-Victorians," too; in our own day, when the old-time lustre of the music-hall has become dimmed, their number is small. Yet some still glow, and the brightest of all—at least, so far as her own sex is concerned—is Gracie Fields.

Just what elusive quality it is that makes the great difference between the every-day performer and the rival who can always crowd a hall, as Miss Fields crowded the Theatre Royal last night, it would be hard to say. Personality, of course; but personality itself takes many forms. Others, inviting us to join in the chorus, might tell us to imagine we are in her front room, but she makes us feel that we really are, and so we respond with a will. In the same way she makes herself believe that she is really what she pretends to be, whether it is the child watching with wonder the Punch and Judy show or the young lady sitting astride the bony-backed steed and urging it to "follow the dogs and pick oop scent."

Versatility also counts: the versatility which enables Gracie, after finishing her sweetly-sung song of love, simply to settle her boa, give her hair a poke, and pass naturally to the comic absurdity of her song about Uncle Ebenezer's whiskers. Every item of the turn is entirely different from any other item, even to the third or fourth encore, and then one is left with the feeling that there is much variety still left, if the curtain would permit, and all worthy of being heard.

Good comedy dominates the rest of the programme. There is Charlie Higgins, with his triplets, his patter and snatches of song, and Bert Bray to assist him in one of the most comical supporting turns that the Royal has shown us for some time; there is Jack Daly, with his jolly Irish manner and some pleasant songs; and there is a clever brother of Miss Fields in Tommy Fields, who, with Nino Rossini, has an absurdly funny turn. In addition, Freddie, Phyllis and Anne; the Three Rascals, the Andree Trio, and Thom and Mack are all good.

A HOUSEHOLD CATALOGUE.

An attractive catalogue, which will be of interest to every housewife, has just been issued by Messrs. Walpole, Suffolk street, Dublin. Down quilts and bedspreads in the newest colours are effectively shown by the aid of three-colour illustrations, as are some all-wool blankets and rugs made to order in the Irish Free State. Examples are also given of chenille curtains and printed linens in a variety of designs and shades. As announced to-day in our advertising columns, a copy may be obtained on request, post free. The catalogue was printed by the Temple Press, Dublin.

Less than a week after he was found insane and unfit to plead at the Old Bailey on a charge alleging that he stabbed a girl in Hyde Park, Barney Bloomstein (23), a chemist, of Park avenue, Cricklewood, has been found dead in a cell at Brixton Prison.

FREE STATE ARMY.

END OF ANNUAL EXERCISES.

ADDRESSES BY THE COMMANDERS.

THE termination of the Free State Army exercises took place yesterday, when the opposing Blue and Yellow forces were ceremoniously disbanded at the Rest Camp, Phœnix Park, Dublin. The various units, after the disbandment, returned to their quarters in Dublin, at the Curragh, Baldonnel and elsewhere.

In disbanding their forces both the Blue and Yellow Commanders—Colonel Seamus McGoran and Major A. T. Lawlor—made farewell addresses.

THE BLUE FORCE.

Colonel McGoran, the Blue Commander, addressing the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the 1st Reinforced Brigade, said:—

"Before demobilisation, and before returning to your peace-time stations, I feel that I could not allow this opportunity to pass without conveying to you my appreciation, and that of the entire Brigade Staff, of the very creditable manner in which you have carried out your very onerous duties during the past fortnight.

"Although it has been your privilege and mine to be members of the first Irish fighting force which has moved on its own power, so to speak, for the past two or three hundred years, still that privilege is liable to be forgotten when the question of long day and night marches, night bivouacs, and cross-country marches arise. That you performed all the latter in the manner you did goes to show the material of which you are made, and what the country can expect of its Army in time of need. You have set a standard which you, yourselves, may surpass, but which will be quite good for others to aim at.

"Our motto in defence during the exercises has been the old one, 'They shall not pass,' and they did not. Our motto in attack has been, 'We shall pass,' and we did.

"In returning to your peace-time stations you carry with you, each and everyone, my best wishes for the future. The head of the State has already outlined to you on Saturday what he expects of you regarding your future conduct. Carry out the advice, and you will continue to be a credit to the country and to the Army to which we are all proud to belong."

THE YELLOW FORCE.

Major Lawlor, the Yellow Commander, addressed the officers of his force in the Phœnix Park, and said:—"I ask my officers to convey to the troops my thanks for their efforts during the past fortnight. I worked my troops hard, and I desire them to know in a personal way that it is recognised that the Yellow force could not have achieved the surprising success it did without their efforts. Our reputation for quick action was maintained to the end. We were allotted the difficult task of delaying a superior force, and we held it south of the mountains to the 'Cease Fire.' I congratulate the troops on their gallant efforts, and I hope, like good sportsmen, they will continue to maintain the high traditions of the young Irish Army, of which both Yellow and Blue forces are parts.

"It is necessary that I now disband this little scratch force, but I wish you, each and all, the best fortune in your military careers.

"In conclusion, I would like to say that a Commander cannot work without a staff. To my Staff I am everlastingly indebted."

THE DUBARRY.

SECOND WEEK AT THE GAIETY THEATRE.

"The Dubarry," the musical play which has been written round the career of the famous court favourite of the latter days of Louis Quinze of France, began its second week at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, last night, and, judging by the dimensions of the audience and their unstinted applause, it looks as if the play is going to have a long run. Apart from the fanciful rendering of the story and some very attractive music the play is superbly staged and dressed—indeed, from this aspect alone it is worth seeing and studying. Some of the dresses are very elaborate, whilst one dress in which the Dubarry appears evokes applause from the ladies in the audience.

Muriel Barron continues her success in the title part, and, if anything, is singing more appealingly than last week. Colin Cunningham is worth hearing for his rendering of 'If I am dreaming," the refrain of which is delightful. Then there are Brewster Meadows and Margot in their comedy parts as the Marquiss de la Marche and Margot the Parisian seamstress who so wants to be an actress.

The supporting company is first-rate, and the play is thoroughly enjoyable.

REVUE AT OLYMPIA.

SOME GOOD NUMBERS.

Sixteen acts in quick succession form the revue, "Two Hours with You," at the Olympia Theatre this week, which has Dick Tubb, a comedian, for its principal. Tubb takes part in several sketches, which are quite bright, and has a trick of distorting his mouth into the most fantastic shapes. Some of the songs are not new to Dublin audiences, but among the vocalists of the company Maria is deserving of praise. In some of her numbers she is accompanied by a piano accordion, an instrument which she also plays herself.

Walter Aubrey's dancing was clever, and his participation in the sketches was one of the most entertaining features of this revue. Kathy Buckle, who is his partner in one number, is also outstanding, and her dance in the final scene is most attractive. The chorus has a lot of hard work, and their gymnastic display is well done.

TWO SURVIVORS OF LUCKNOW SIEGE.

MEET AT REUNION DINNER.

A man and a woman who were children living in the Residency at Lucknow during the Indian Mutiny seventy-six years ago, when Generals Outram and Havelock cut through the mutineers who were besieging the city, and joined hands with the British garrison before being themselves invested, met at a reunion dinner at Cheltenham last night.

They were Mr. Arthur F. Dashwood, of London, who was born during the siege, and Mrs. Kathleen Haynes, daughter of Thomas Henry Kavanagh, whose heroism in escaping through native lines in disguise and guiding Sir Colin Campbell's relief force into the city, was rewarded with the Victoria Cross.

It is stated that of all the children in Lucknow at the time only nine now survive.

INTERESTING BILL AT THE QUEEN'S.

A very interesting show is being presented at the Queen's Theatre this week, and it was received with approval by a crowded audience last night. The principal figure in the entertainment is Maxwell Carew, as versatile a comedian as appeared here for some time. He represents various characters in a most amusing fashion. Earle and Croft are good, for the most part, but a few expressions might be omitted. The Arnold Sisters are admirable singers and dancers, and so are Mott Green and Slim Benson, whose rhythmical dance rouses the audience to a high degree. The Queen's Moonbeams, with Alex Fryer, contribute a beautiful ballet. The screen show, N'agana," with Tala Birell and Melvyn Douglas, is a representation of a scientist's last effort to save his white sweetheart from jungle vengeance It is an elaborate film, and shows many exciting incidents in Africa. There are several other pictures showing recent events of general interest.

Lord Treowen, the Lord Lieutenant of Monmouthshire, who is confined to his bed through illness, was reported last night to be "much better."

ON THE WIRELESS

Daily Programme Review.

(CONDUCTED BY OBBLIGATO.)

DUBLIN: Station Opera Company, 9.

BELFAST: Orchestral Concert, 8.

B.B.C. NATIONAL: A new Play by Lord Dunsany, 10.

NORTH REGIONAL: "The Fire Station," 8.

STUTTGART: Opera, "Sister Angelica" (Puccini), 8.

GERMAN STATIONS: Soldier Ballads and Martial Music, 7.

BEROMUNSTER: Opera, "The Queen of Spades" (Tschaikovsky), 8.

A NEW play by Lord Dunsany, entitled "The Use of Man," will be produced by the B.B.C. to-night. It is to come on in the Daventry National programme at 10 o'clock. Lord Dunsany's plays, written for the theatre, have proved to be highly successful broadcasting material, and it would not be surprising to find this brilliant Irish author and dramatist giving his whole attention in the future to work designed directly for broadcasting.

"The Use of Man" is the seventh work by Lord Dunsany to be broadcast. Listeners who heard some of the others will be enabled to judge to-night the measure of Lord Dunsany's success in using the greater freedom—for, in the case of so imaginative a writer, it is the freedom rather than the limitations that springs to view—offered by the broadcasting medium. The theme of the play, as indicated in the Radio Times, at once suggests a glad escape from the limitations of the theatre.

"The Use of Man" is an allegorical fantasy. The human characters in the first part of the play are hunting people; they propose to kill a badger that is opening foxes' earths. A girl begs the M.F.H. to spare the badger. He agrees to do so if one of the company will say what good badgers do.

That night the M.F.H. is summoned by a spirit to a journey through space, and confronted with the assembled spirits of the animals, birds, insects and fishes. He is challenged to define "the use of Man." Unless he can find two champions amongst Man's victims, Man will be destroyed. The broadcasting of this fantasy offers excellent opportunities for imaginative treatment.

THREE PARTS.

The Dublin Station's musical programme is divided into three part. Irish traditional music constitutes the first part. Later the Station Orchestra and Fred Stone (pianist) will give a programme of music by Weber, a composer whom we remember chiefly in connection with such romantic operas as "Der Freischutz" and "Oberon."

The third part will be furnished by the Dublin Station Opera Company, which evidently has been assembled with the idea of a winter programme of operatic performances. To-night's close-down item will be supplied by Thornton and Earls, the Irish Layton and Johnson, who will be heard in duets from their repertoire.

A well-known Dublin singer, Jean Nolan is contributing four Schubert songs to the afternoon concert of the Nancy Phillips quartet in the B.B.C. National programme. Later in that programme the Right Hon. S. M. Bruce, formerly Australian Commonwealth Premier, will give the first talk in the new B.B.C. course on the British Empire. In this programme also is the Promenade Concert relay. Arthur Catterall's playing of the Sebelius violin concerto is likely to be the most popular feature of an all-Sebelius concert.

OPERA FROM ABROAD.

Several of the foreign stations are broadcasting opera to-night. We do not often think of Tchaikovsky as an operatic composer, and indeed he himself suffered much disappointment in connection with his works for the stage. Two at least of his operas are still to be heard here and there; one of these is "Eugene Onegin," which was at one time in the repertory of the Moody Manners Opera Company, and the other is "The Queen of Spades" (known also as "Pique Dame") which will be broadcast by the German Swiss Station, Beromunster.

"Sister Angelica," which Stuttgart will broadcast, is the middle one of a set of three short operas, usually spoken of together as the Tritico which were meant by Puccini to form the three well contrasted parts of an operatic night. The public has not agreed with his design and the three are never found together. "Gianni Schichi," the extremely amusing comic opera which Maestro Viani produced with great success with the Dublin Operatic Society two or three years ago, is the most popular member of the Tritico. In "Sister Angelica" Puccini comes as near as was possible for him, to mystical treatment of the story of a nun.

A BEETHOVEN "BEST-SELLER."

The German hour, for which Leipzig is responsible at 7 o'clock, takes the form of a concert, half ballads by that prolific ballad writer, Loewe, and half orchestral selections of martial music. One of these selections is the overture by Beethoven, "Wellington's Victory," which is remembered now only as a work of no musical value, which brought its composer the greatest fame and gain while he was producing the splendid symphonic works which to-day we admire most.

Research goes on all the while in every radio valve laboratory, and every once in a while (but not nearly as often as you might suppose!), there is a real step forward in valve design or construction. But the real all-day and every-day problem of the valve maker is to achieve reliability! It is reliability that has brought Mazda right up to the top in the last three or four years. And it is because of reliability that Mazda will remain there.

PAUPERISED FARMERS.

NEW PARTY AND FIANNA FAIL.

MILK AND HONEY OR GALL.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Monday.

SCENES of enthusiasm marked the meeting of the United Ireland Organisation at Crooke (Passage East) yesterday.

Mr. John Colfer (who presided) said that he was associated with the Land League when the people, by unity and determination, had enabled the Irish Party, under Parnell's leadership, to win the land for the people. Now a greater crisis had arisen when the land the people had won for themselves was in danger of being taken from them. He appealed to his hearers, especially the young men and women, to become members of the United Ireland Organisation, and if they showed the same determination and unity they would once more have Irish government under Irish leaders.

Mrs. Redmond, T.D., who received a remarkable ovation, said it was her first duty to thank the people of the Gaultier district for the splendid support accorded the Farmers' Party and Cumann na nGaedheal at the last election in County Waterford. If every county had voted in the same solid way in the last election the Free State would not now be afflicted with the misrule of the Fianna Fail Government during the past few weeks. The United Ireland Organisation had been launched under the leadership of General O'Duffy, with Cosgrave, MacDermot and Dillon as principal lieutenants. They all knew unity was strength and that in the past a united Irish Party, under the direction of Parnell, Dillon, Davitt and Redmond, had obtained the land for the people, had got cottages for labourers, and made educational facilities available for all. If the people were to get rid of the Fianna Fail Government in the shortest possible time, they could only do so by banding themselves together and by everyone opposed to the Government—men, women and children joining the United Ireland Organisation.

There was a special section under its own officers for the youth, called the Young Ireland Association, and she appealed to all young men in the district and also all followers of the United Ireland Party in the city and county to join the Association.

"PLAYING ENGLAND'S GAME."

The Fianna Fail Party, since they first came into office, had been playing England's game by encouraging the British farmer to go in more extensively for the production of articles which were formerly supplied by the Irish farmer. Fianna Fail paid three millions a year in bounties to retain their hold on the British market. Fianna Fail were feeding the so-called enemy, John Bull, with butter which John Bull could buy for 10d.—or 6d. a pound cheaper than the average Irish workingman had to pay for it. The policy of Fianna Fail was one of deliberate pauperization: they had reduced the farmers of Ireland to poverty, and it seemed now poverty was a crime in the eyes of Fianna Fail. The Irish farmer was the most honest man on the face of the world, but when he was unable to pay, as a result of the Government's short-sighted policy, the Government's remedy was to clap him into jail in order to break his spirit.

Mrs. Redmond said a women's division of the United Ireland Organisation was being started, and already the women of Waterford had shown what good work they could do at an election. She wanted all her women supporters in city and county to join the women's section.

Mr. C. S. Quinlan, solicitor, said the Fianna Fail Government had promised milk and honey at the last election, but in Gaultier district they had without doubt issued the President's own mixture of wormwood and gall to decent farmers. No County Waterford farmer or any Irish farmer required either a certificate of honesty or nationality from the President of the Free State. Everyone had heard of "Brown's cows"—(laughter)—but the validity of the alleged sale in Dublin was open to serious doubt.

CO-OPERATION WITH GUARDS.

They of the United Ireland Organisation stood for the fullest co-operation with the Garda Siothchana. Guards, like the Army and civil servants, had to carry out the directions they received from the Government, and on behalf of the United Ireland Organisation he would state that the Guards would get the same co-operation in the future as they had got in the past. (Cheers.)

Fianna Fail sometimes made a boast that they stood for impartial administration of the civil law, but the acid test of the Government's sincerity was their attitude to the Bass raiders. A day of reckoning would yet come, and Fianna Fail would find when next they went to the country that the farmers and people of Waterford generally were unconquerable.

PLEA FOR BRITISH COAL.

When Cork City Vocational Education Committee yesterday considered tenders for coal, it was mentioned that the lowest tender was for Westphalian coal.

Mr. R. S. Anthony, T.D., said that there must be many branches of the "Friends of Irish Freedom" and many of their kith and kin in Westphalia and Silesia, but he thought that they should get their coal from Lancashire. Many of their people had emigrated to England and Wales and found employment there, and they also knew under what conditions coal was produced across the Channel.

The tender for Westphalian coal was accepted.

SLIGO IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Nicholas O'Dwyer, B.E., Consulting Engineer, reported to Sligo Corporation that the contract for the new extension to the borough waterworks at Kinsellagh and repairs to Farnacardy reservoir, effected at a cost of £6,872, was now completed.

It was decided to fix Saturday, 7th October, for the official opening.

PICTURES IN SCHOOLS.

AN INTERESTING EXHIBITION.

Mrs. Dermod O'Brien, honorary secretary of the Society of Lovers of Art and of Children, received a number of guests yesterday at the Victor Waddington Galleries, South Anne street, Dublin, for the opening of an interesting exhibition of reproductions of pictures and posters applied to school decoration.

The exhibits were reproductions of pictures by Irish and British artists, and also representative painters, of posters and coloured designs of Spain, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. Scenic pictures and illustrations of fairy stories are the principal subjects, and all are of a character to hold the eye of a child and excite its mind to wonder on the painted story.

Since 1926 or 1927 the Society of Lovers of Art and of Children has been lending its pictures for periodic exhibition in the primary schools of the City and County of Dublin. The Society was started in a very small way by Mrs. O'Brien and Mrs. Pilkington, and later, with the ardent aid of Major Dease, the scheme developed until the Society was glad of the kind assistance of the County Libraries' Association in facilitating the distribution of the pictures to schools all over the city and county.

OPENING CEREMONY.

The Very Rev. T. W. O'Ryan presided at the opening ceremony, which was attended by Mr. Dermod O'Brien, P.R.H.A.; Mr. Jack B. Yeats, R.H.A.; Miss Brigid O'Brien, Mrs. Preston, headmistress, Alexandra College; Dr. Badham, Miss K. O'Brennan, and many others.

Dr. T. Bodkin, director of the National Gallery, declared the exhibition open, and said that the delightful posters and reproductions that he saw there made him envious of the school children of to-day. These exhibitions in schools must create an interest in pictures and enable eventually an appreciation of good art and of the beauties of nature. He would have liked to have seen a larger percentage of the works of acknowledged masters, but he appreciated the idea of the Society of bringing children by slow degrees to appreciate the greater works. He complimented the devotion of their honorary secretary, Mrs. O'Brien, and Major Dease in having initiated the scheme and maintained it in its present vigour, and also the energetic secretary of the County Libraries' Association, who allowed the pictures to be taken round to the schools in the book van, and so insured their constant change from one school to another.

SCHOOL-CHILDREN'S WORK.

Dr. Bodkin remarked on some copies of pictures made by school children exhibited on the gallery walls, and said that they showed that already the children had become interested in the pictures and had begun to understand something of the pictorial art. These children's efforts were not wasted, and he liked to see their interest shown in efforts to produce. Even in ordinary vocations people were greatly helped by even a rudimentary knowledge of drawing. That was a fact, he knew, in his own profession of the law; indeed, there were practically no useful occupations in life in which an elementary knowledge of drawing was not of value.

Mrs. O'Brien told an interesting story of how a number of children were taken through a picture gallery and then made to write essays on what they had seen. She said that their descriptions were remarkable for ideas of composition and colour.

The exhibition will remain open until September 30.

FREE STATE OATS.

CREATING A LARGER MARKET.

Circulars have been prepared by the Department of Agriculture, and are being sent to Free State millers, setting out the proposals of Dr. Ryan, the Minister for Agriculture, for meeting the situation resulting from the failure of oat-growers and millers to agree on the price to be paid for this season's crop.

The proposals are that the home-grown grain content of feeding stuffs should be increased from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent., and that oats used by millers should consist of kernels only. They will be incorporated in an Order which the Minister will issue in the course of the next few days under the Cereals Act.

It is estimated that the increased home-grown content will result in reducing maize imports from 300,000 tons to 240,000 tons. This will create a larger market for Free State oat-growers.

THE MILLERS' DECISION.

REASONS AGAINST DR. RYAN'S PROPOSALS.

The Free State Maize and Oatmeal Millers' Association issued a statement yesterday in which are given the reasons for the millers' unanimous decision against the proposals for disposing of the oats crop advanced by the Minister for Agriculture, Dr. Ryan.

The statement says Dr. Ryan's proposals were:—

(a) That a uniform opening price of 5s. per cwt. to farmers, delivered, should be fixed:

(b) That oat merchants should be given firm, or fairly firm, orders for the season based on this opening price;

(c) That a minimum of 15 per cent. of oats should be admixed in all admixture meal.

The meeting of millers on 14th September unanimously agreed that "(a) was not possible of application; (b) was not practicable, having regard to the nature of the trade carried on by many millers; and (c) the admixture of the indicated percentage of oats will become automatically effective owing to the price disparity between oats and barley."

A sub-committee to which was delegated the task gives reasons for these findings. They state that "whilst the millers are keenly alive to the difficulties facing the Minister for Agriculture, they regret that they cannot see in the adoption of his suggestions any reasonable means towards solving the difficulties, since, in their considered and unanimous opinion, the suggestions would put on millers grave and serious risks, and lead to increased costs for feeders."

"While the millers are on the market oat merchants would not purchase oats, and the millers have before them their unhappy experience of the price fall during last season."

"In some of the largest feeding areas, there is not a sufficient supply of home-grown grain to meet local milling demand, and the fixing of a price would have serious reactions on the feeders in these areas, and further depress production in the mills."

"Millers are gravely perturbed at the trend of values. In this sense they feel that, however excellent policies may be from other points of view, they must finally relate to the stern actualities. They would point to the sharp increase in meal prices brought about by admixture milling and to the reduced food value content of a 25 per cent. admixture meal based on oats, and they cannot but reflect on the relationships between present feeding costs and present export values."

LATE MR. G. KILLEEN.

A tribute was paid to the memory of the late Mr. George V. Killeen, agent of Tipperary Branch of the Bank of Ireland, an ex-Rugby international footballer, on the occasion of the removal of the remains from St. Michael's Church, Tipperary, for interment at Kilmurry, Ibrican, Co. Clare.

A large crowd followed the bier, which was carried to the outskirts of the town, on the Limerick road, by the members of the Clanwilliam Rugby Football Club.

The attendance included bank directors, bank agents and officials, many friends and members of the professions and representatives of mercantile and farming interests.

FATAL FALL OFF BICYCLE.

"Death due to shock and hæmorrhage, resulting from fracture of the base of the skull," was the jury's verdict at the inquest held at Macroom on Patrick Collins (24), a farm labourer, who fell from a bicycle, on the handlebars of which he carried a child, when returning from Kilmichael sports on Sunday.

The jury added a rider declaring that this practice was highly dangerous to life, and called for its prohibiton by law.

"AN ALARMING SITUATION."

COUNTY COUNCIL AND RATES.

CONFERENCE TO BE CALLED.

MR. A. W. CULLEN presided at a meeting of the Dublin County Council last night.

On the motion of Mr. P. Belton, T.D., seconded by Mr. J. P. McCabe, and supported by the Chairman and Mr. L. J. Duffy, a vote of condolence was passed with Councillor Mulvaney on the death of his wife.

Mr. P. J. Fogarty moved that all workers employed by the Dublin County Council be paid weekly as from 1st October.

Mr. Tunney seconded, and said that he did not understand why they should not be paid weekly.

Mr. Belton said that, if the proposal would entail the employment of an extra clerk, the Council would have to study their finances before embarking on any further expenditure. The total rate warrant of the current year was £240,000, and one half of that, or £120,000, should be collected by the 30th inst. The position was that only £25,000 had been collected to date, and, if that were not improved, they would be lucky if they got paid at all in future.

Mr. L. J. Duffy agreed that any man employed on a weekly wage should be paid weekly.

Mr. Belton said that there would be no objection if the system entailed no extra expense.

The Council deferred its decision pending a report from the Secretary and County Surveyor.

£50,000 FOR SMALL DWELLINGS.

Mr. J. J. Clare moved that the Council reallocate the sum of £50,000 for advances under the Small Dwellings Acquisition Acts. Mr. Mulvaney seconded the motion.

Mr. Belton said that the £50,000 should be administered for the entire County Dublin Health Area, and not for any districts in particular.

The Council agreed with this view, and the matter was referred to the Financial Committee.

Mr. Duffy moved the insertion of a fair wages clause in all Council contracts, so that there would be a proper definition of what constituted a trade's union wage. He said that all over the country, especially in the building trade, disputes as to wages had arisen, and the clause which he proposed would prevent such disputes.

Mr. Mulvany seconded, and said that if this resolution passed they would have peace not only in the building trade, but in all other trades. Some contractors had got the benefit of grants through the Council and had not complied with the fair wages clause in the execution of the works for which the grants were given.

Mr. Belton said that he stood strongly for a definite rate of wages and to have penalty clauses in contracts. He suggested, however, that the matter be referred to the new Council.

On a show of hands Mr. Duffy's motion was passed by seven votes to six.

Mr. Belton moved an amendment that there be specified the rates of wages according to the districts mentioned.

The amendment was carried, and by agreement it was incorporated in the original resolution.

THE ECONOMIC SITUATION.

Mr. Belton moved:—

"That, in view of the alarming economic situation in the County Dublin, both as regards unemployment and farmers' inability to employ and inability to pay rates, and the proposal of the Government that local government bodies in the county should reduce salaries and wages of officials, a conference be immediately called of the County Council, and all committees set up by it, and that the attendance at it of the deputies for the county and of the senators resident in the county be invited."

Mr. Belton said that the object was to have a servey taken of the economic position, so that it would not be necessary to slice wages or salaries. At the proposed conference they would have the assistance of the spending authorities in the country, and the benefit of their advice. They would be able to obviate the cutting of wages and salaries, because if these were reduced the price of all produce would drop below an economic level, as the earners would not be able to pay for it.

Mr. Doonge seconded, and, after discussion, the motion was passed, and the conference fixed for 7 p.m. on Tuesday next.

The report of the auditor (Mr. A. C. Ellis) for the year ended 31st March last was submitted. This showed that there were arrears of £22,772 in respect of the previous year's rate, and these, together with the assessment for the year 1932-33, left for collection £171,606. Of this amount £138,957 has been received, and, after allowing for remissions and discounts, the arrears on March 31 were £29,169. Since the previous audit the Rates Department had been reorganised, and it was anticipated that essential improvement would be made during the current year. The auditor stated that the finances of the three drainage districts were drifting into a state of chaos, and nothing definite had been done to call in the amounts due. In connection with the County Libraries' Committee, he said, the Lusk Local Centre had allowed their rooms to be used for dances on six separate occasions without the regular charge of 15s. per night being collected. Steps should be taken to collect the amount due.

RAILWAY UNION GRANTS.

UNEXPECTED AWARDS TO MEMBERS.

Grants ranging from £5 to £15 have been made to railwaymen who have become redundant since the strike on the Northern railways, or who were not reinstated after the dispute by their union—the National Union of Railwaymen. This payment is in addition to the unemployment and other benefits already paid by the union to these members.

The maximum sum is paid to men with three or more years' membership. Members of from twelve months to two years' standing have received £10, and men with less than twelve months' membership, who, according to the rules, would not be entitled to benefit, have received £5.

FREE MILK SCHEME.

LONGFORD TO GET ONLY 17 GALLONS A DAY.

Considering the Free Milk Grant of £178 11s. 5d. for six months totally inadequate to meet the requirements in the rural areas of the county, Longford Board of Health adjourned the scheme which on that basis they felt would only create jealousy and discontent amongst the poor, and they asked the Department to give a grant on the basis estimated by the assistance officers, who had estimated there would be 152 gallons a day required. The grant would only provide 17 gallons a day, or half a gallon for each district, as advertised.

Several people who had tendered to supply milk on the basis of a 152 gallons a day requirement said it would not be worth their while to go to the expenses of equipping their dairies on the standard laid down for small amounts. The assistance officers also stated they would not work the present scheme less than £10 each.

Chairman—Even at £5 each that would be £25 for administering £178, and would be ridiculous.

DREW PENSION FOR 93 YEARS.

It was revealed yesterday that Miss Frances Caroline Baker, who died last week at St. Leonards, Sussex, when nearly 101 years of age, had been drawing a pension from the Indian Government and its predecessors, the East India Company, for over 93 years. The pension was granted to her in November, 1839, when her father, Captain William Way Baker, of the Madras Staff Corps, died while on service with his regiment. As Miss Baker remained single she continued to draw the pension until her death.

RATE COLLECTION.

GALWAY'S POSITION SATISFACTORY.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee of the Galway County Council, Mr. E. Hickey, assistant secretary, reported that the rate collection for the past week was £3,956, as compared with £1,882 for the corresponding week last year.

The total amount collected to date was £16,680, and at this time last year the figure was £16,161.

Members expressed satisfaction at the state of collection.

ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH, ARKLOW.

Special musical Services were held in St. Saviour's, Arklow, on Sunday morning and evening, the officiating clergymen being the Rev. William Carroll, M.A., Rector, and the Rev. E. H. F. Campbell, M.A., of St. George's, Dublin, the latter preaching appropriate sermons for the occasion.

The Services were in Wood in F. The anthems, "All Thy Works Praise Thee" (White), was rendered by the choir, the soloist being Mr. T. E. Earl. Solos were sung by Mr. Robert Shepherd, of Dublin, from "Elijah." Miss Constance J. Archer presided at the organ. Very large congregations attended both Services, which were most excellently rendered.

The church was very tastefully decorated by Mr. Montgomery, head gardener of the Carysfort estate. Both collections were in aid of the poor parish fund for the Diocese of Dublin, Glendalough and Kildare.

THE LATE MR. G. FRIZELLE.

The funeral of Mr. George Frizelle, manager, Kilkenny depôt of the Castlecomer Collieries, Ltd., whose death occurred at a Dublin hospital last Saturday, took place to Kilkenny yesterday.

The remains, which were conveyed by motor hearse, were met at the borough boundary, on the Castlecomer road, by the Mayor of Kilkenny (Mr. M. McSweeney) and members of the Corporation. The officials of the Corporations were also present.

A funeral Service was conducted in St. John's Church, by the Very Rev. Dean Phair, assisted by the Rev. H. Chillingworth, after which the interment took place in St. Kieran's Cemetery.

Among the general public were:—Dr. C. E. Drennan, Dr. J. Mitchell, J. G. Duggan, E. J. King, postmaster; R. J. Nolan, solicitor; J. D. Fitzgerald, solicitor; M. P. Kearney, County Registrar; A. G. APPLE TREE IN BLOSSOM.

Arboriculturists will be interested in an apple-tree now in full blossom in the garden of Mrs. A. E. Medcalf, 25 Claude road, Glasnevin, Dublin. Mrs. Medcalf has sent to the Irish Times office a sprig of the tree bearing half-a-dozen flowers in beautiful bloom.

AERIDHEACHT AT BAGENALSTOWN.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

There were good entries in all sections at Bagenalstown aeridheacht. The weather, however, was most unfavourable, several of the competitions having to be abandoned altogether and the remainder held indoors. The melodeon contest attracted widespread interest, and resulted in a tie between Mr. Michael Rooney and Mr. John O'Dwyer. Details:—

Senior Hornpipe, Double Jig and Blackbird (open to Ireland)—1, Miss Lily Whelan, Athy; 2, Miss Rita Conway, Thomastown.

Junior Three-hand Reel (open)—1, Troupe B (Mrs. Ruth's), Thomastown; 2, Troupe C (J. Voss's), Thomastown; 3, Troupe A (M. Curran's), Bagenalstown.

Junior Reel, Hornpipe and Double Jig (open)—Miss Bridie Power, Thomastown, and Miss Eileen Murphy, Muinebeag, tied for 1st; 3, Miss W. Kelly, Carlow.

Minor Reel and Jig (open)—1, Miss Eileen Nolan, Myshall; 2, Miss May Kelly, Bagenalstown; 3, Miss May Crombie, Thomastown.

Silver Cup for Best All-Round Dancer (confined)—1, Miss Eileen Murphy, Muinebeag; 2, Miss Betty Maher, Bagenalstown (gold centre medal).

Violin Solo (open to Ireland)—1, Mr. William Roberts, Muinebeag; Messrs. A. Walshe, Glanaharry, and J. Tobin, Paulstown, tied for 2nd.

DUBLIN WEDDING.

MR. J. HANLON AND MISS M. DUGGAN.

The marriage took place early yesterday morning in the Star of the Sea Church, Sandymount, Dublin, of Mr. John V. Hanlon, the well-known Rugby football player, son of the late Mr. John Hanlon and of Mrs. Hanlon, Eglinton road, Dublin, and Miss Maureen Duggan, daughter of Mr. R. J. Duggan and the late Mrs. Duggan, Wilton House, Merrion road, Dublin. The church was specially decorated for the occasion with lilies and pink carnations.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. F. Ryan, Adm., Sandymount. The organist was Mr. George Bell, while Miss Christine Manning sang César Franck's "Panis Angelicus" during the Nuptial Mass.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a becoming beige two-piece, trimmed with fox fur, and a small rose velvet hat with an eye veil. Instead of a bouquet she wore a spray of roses and lilies of the valley pinned in her corsage.

Her three sisters, the Misses Terry, Kitty and Una Duggan, were in attendance. Their pretty frocks of rose-coloured crêpe were worn with hats to match, and they carried bouquets of lilies of the valley and pink carnations. Mr. Jim Hanlon acted as best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was given at Wilton House.

Later in the day the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon, which will be spent in the South of France. The bride travelled in a brick-coloured two-piece ensemble with a close-fitting hat to tone.

SHARP EXCHANGES.

SENATOR'S CENSURE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

There were sharp exchanges between members at Monaghan Health Board yesterday, when a letter from the Ministry regarding an amendment of the county scheme for hospitals was under consideration.

Senator B. O'Rourke asked that the matter be adjourned, as it appeared that the Minister took all the power and they had no say whatever.

Mr. J. McGahey said that Senator O'Rourke liked to follow in the footprints of the Senate—to debar all legislation or anything for the good of the country.

Senator O'Rourke said that Mr. McGahey was an extensive farmer, and could he suggest that farming could be made pay with pork at 36s. per cwt. and two-year-old cattle at £8?

Mr. McGahey said that the position of his farm was owing to his position when he took up fighting for his country. "When I left jail," he added, "I left it without a stain on my character, what some of them can't say."

Senator O'Rourke said that the farmers were bankrupt, and nobody had any profit to get out of them. He had been in Belfast Jail, too. Mr. McGahey suggested that he had got out by some kind of subterfuge. "I was told to go," said Senator O'Rourke. "I never made application, nor interfered in any way. My record in national politics is at least as good as Mr. McGahey's."

Later, when a letter was read from the Minister for Local Government inquiring the probable date for the laying of the foundation stone of the new county hospital, to which he had been invited, Mr. McGahey said that he had overheard a remark between Senator O'Rourke and Mr. Macklin that they did not want the Minister or his Secretary.

Mr. Macklin—He didn't hear me saying anything about the Minister. I am independent of both; I don't care twopence about either Mr. McGahey or any Minister of any Government.

ACCIDENT TO ARMAGH ASTRONOMER.

The Rev. W. F. A. Ellison, Curator of Armagh Observatory, and Rector of Kildarton Parish Church, Armagh, while motor-cycling to hold a Service in Kildarton on Sunday, met with an accident near Stockingman's Hill, Armagh.

It appears that he was thrown over the handlebars of his machine and rendered unconscious. He was conveyed to his home.

CAVAN TEAM'S SUCCESS.

Monaghan Board of Health, at its meeting yesterday, passed a resolution congratulating the Cavan team on its victory in the final of the All-Ireland Gaelic Football Championship.

P. Lynch, the All-Ireland football player, who was injured during Sunday's final, was stated at the Mater Hospital, Dublin, last night to be "much improved, and doing well."

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

At Longford Board of Health there was a dispute between two women officials on Saturday. It was decided to refer the matter to the Local Government, as to which should act as secretary to the meeting.—(Page 2.)

At Crooke, Passage East, a large and enthusiastic meeting of the new Ireland organisation was addressed by Mrs. Redmond. T.D., who said that the Government deliberately pauperised the farmers and then made poverty a crime.—(Page 5.)

For four hours on Sunday night Kilrush was in a state of excitement, when a number of Blue Shirts who had arrived in the town were attacked by crowds, and had to be protected by the Civic Guard.—(Page 7.)

Two of the hunger-strikers in Mountjoy Prison yesterday abandoned their fast when they took food, and were later released on bail.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

An important White House conference on the United States financial policy, and the reaching of complete agreement on the sugar stabilisation question, are the two latest developments in America's fight against depression.—(Page 7.)

At yesterday's opening meeting in Geneva of the League Assembly M. Mowinckel, the Norwegian Premier, in his rôle of President of the League Council, indulged in some plain speaking. Mr Te Water, South African High Commissioner in London, was voted President of the Assembly.—(Page 7.)

When the Reichstag fire trial was resumed in Leipzig yesterday, Torgler, the former leader of the German Communists in the Reichstag, declared his innocence The Court was deeply impressed.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

Winster won the Lanarkshire Handicap at Hamilton Park yesterday.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were firm at the close after a weak opening. "Kaffirs" rallied well in the late dealings.—(Page 3.)

Gold fell 8½d. to 132s. 9d. per oz. fine, and £400,000 in the market was taken mainly for the Continent.—(Page 3.)

Dublin Market was very quiet. Railway Stocks were firm.—(Page 3.)

Geneva on Trial.

If the League of Nations has no other use, it certainly gives the representatives of small nations a chance to say what they think of the Great Powers. When Mr. de Valera took his seat as President of the Council he gave the members of the League a sound rating for their failure to live up to the high ideals enshrined in the Covenant. Yesterday Geneva's calm was disturbed again—this time by M. Mowinckel, the Norwegian Premier, who has been chosen as President of the Council. He also ignored the carefully prepared plans of the secretariat for the President's speech, and made the most of his opportunity to comment with the utmost frankness on the situation as it is to-day. The World Economic Conference, which was inaugurated under the ægis of Geneva, was almost a complete failure. M. Mowinckel said very truly that such a débâcle did much harm to the League's prestige—if, indeed, it has any prestige—and that, unless the big Powers could agree in advance, conferences of this kind ought not to be held at all. He was equally pessimistic in regard to disarmament. The Disarmament Conference, he declared, had been at work for eighteen months, but had achieved nothing. While Geneva was going through the motions of settling world affairs, the nations were arming themselves to the teeth.

Formal conversations on disarmament will not take place until the middle of next month; but all the protagonists are in Geneva, and the stage is being set for her supreme production. All the hotels are humming with the activities of delegates and their swarms of satellites. Sir John Simon and Mr. Anthony Eden observed Britain's traditional detachment yesterday when they played a game of golf. Herr Goebbels, the Nazi Propaganda Minister, was received by his compatriots with the Hitler salute and much clicking of Prussian heels as he made his way to the German headquarters, which are alive with Secret Service agents. Baron von Neurath, an aristocratic survival of the ancien régime, will be Germany's official spokesman at the coming conference; but the man who will matter will be Herr Goebbels, who is, perhaps, the most outspoken of Herr Hitler's lieutenants. He has come to Geneva in advance in order to spy out the land; for the events of the last few months have isolated Germany in Europe. Even Italy, who was tending more and more strongly to make friends with Berlin in an effort to counteract French activities in the Balkans and elsewhere, has cooled appreciably in her advances.

There will be no disarmament. Europe's state has become so dangerous that all the nations are turning their attention to their "defences" against a possible outbreak during the next few years, if not, indeed, even sooner. On Sunday a conference was opened at Sinaia, King Carol's summer residence in Rumania, between representatives of the Little Entente—Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia—which is becoming increasingly anxious as a result of Nazi aggressiveness in Germany. France openly has discarded all pretence of disarmament, and is consolidating her strong position on the Rhine. Italy looks longingly across the Adriatic, and makes no secret of her desire to control the entire Dalmatian coast. Belgium has been arresting English schoolboys who came back from Germany wearing Swastika emblems, and even Switzerland is reported to be looking to the safety of the Republic. In these circumstances the proceedings at Geneva take the complexion of a tragic farce. There is no sincerity behind the disarmament movement. Every nation would wish to disarm its neighbours, but none will disarm itself. All the old jealousies, the old feuds and the old hatreds have been intensified, rather than assuaged, since the War ended in Europe nearly fifteen years ago; and the tide of hope which surged high in men's hearts has ebbed again, leaving behind it the jetsam of bitter disappointment.

The Falling Year.

A summer warm and bright beyond the highest hopes of a country which cherishes no illusions about its weather has come at last to an end. The rainy dawns and chilly evenings of the past few days have brought us back to reality, and the kindly philosophers of the streets no longer seek to cheer their acquaintances with their assurance, profound and ever-new, that a fine autumn shortens the winter. Instead, they make for their homes, there to solemnise one of the most portentous rites of the domestic calendar. The first fire of autumn crackles in their hearths. Among all the poets who have sung the mellow beauties of the time, it is strange that none has paid full attention to the ceremony of the first fire. Yet in every home it is, more than any of the phenomena of nature, the symbol of the falling year. As a consolation for the death of summer, its glow has a virtue even beyond the frostly crispness of celery, or the sharp tang of the home-grown apple, or a walk on a carpet of dry, fallen leaves. To light it in careless haste and without reflection is to miss the significance of a sacred moment. The kindling must be reserved for a sombre evening, and, to give it full savour, the wind must rustle the little heaps under the garden trees, or the rain beat upon the window. Only in such a setting can the household hope to appreciate the due significance of the surrender to winter, or to detect in the roar of the flames the appropriate autumnal tone, sweet though in sadness. Too often, unhappily, the solemn occasion is robbed of much of its pomp and glamour by some mundane anticlimax. Perhaps, when the great decision is made to light the fire, it is followed by the disclosure that the coal-cellar is almost empty, and, instead of the promised glow of peace and good-will, the air is filled with the lamentations of those who have forgotten to order their new supplies in June. Even more disconcerting is the discovery, when the fire is in its first glow, that certain birds have taken advantage of the summer recess to construct their nests in the chimney. The precipitate appearance in the grate of a dead jackdaw is, in some houses, a not uncommon symbol of the change and decay of a season whose mournful associations we strive to keep at a distance when, with wistful gaiety, we gather round the first fire of autumn.

War in the Air.

Two boys were naval cadets together in 1897. Now they are Air Marshal R. H. Clark-Hall and Rear-Admiral W. M. James, who were the rival commanders in last week's mimic engagement between aeroplanes and battleships. Thirty years ago land and sea were the only stages of war. To-day a new stage is added. The aeroplane helped to win the Great War and may be the decisive factor in the next war. Since the conditions of the recent exercises were largely artificial, few positive conclusions can be drawn from them; it is impossible to say that the Scottish coast town was saved from destruction by its aerial defenders. In real warfare the battleships would have attacked by night—not in the broad light of day—and would have steamed at twice the speed which was permitted for these manœuvres. Within a very short time after "zero hour" the scouts of the defending Air Force had "spotted" every one of the attacking battleships and destroyers, and thus had eliminated the element of surprise. The area of operations, however, had been restricted in advance, and fighting over a whole ocean would have been a very different matter. Nevertheless, these exercises have provided at least one definite lesson, and it is of the first importance. During four hours last Saturday three of the greatest ships in the British Navy—the battle-cruiser Renown and the battleships Warspite and Malaya—were bombed and torpedoed at short range by at least three squadrons of the Royal Air Force. They could not have escaped this hell-fire by any movement or change of course. "Within an hour of taking off," says the Correspondent of The Times, who flew with a squadron of Harts—which dived and delivered its burden at a speed of two hundred miles an hour—"we were back on the ground, having put twelve bombs, weighing 250lb. each, on and about two of the biggest battleships in the world." It is certain that, after such a bombardment in real warfare, no battleship would have been fit for further action. Of course, the aeroplanes would have suffered heavily from the ship's anti-aircraft guns; but, while a Hart bomber costs a few thousand pounds and carries two men, the battleship costs some £2,000,000 and carries a thousand men. The clearest moral of last week's exercises seems to be that the days of the big battleship are ended, and that Britain's safety demands a large increase of expenditure on the Royal Air Force.

Trilby.

Old theatre-goers will be reminded sharply of the passage of time by the death of Mrs. H. B. Irving. Nearly forty years have passed since Dorothea Baird created a theatrical "sensation" when she appeared in Tree's first production of "Trilby." Some conception of the change that has come over stage conventions since that night may be gained from the fact that Miss Baird's entry in her bare feet shocked Victorian prudery. "Trilby" was almost the last of the melodramas. Its popularity was enormous, and Tree's magnificent characterisation of Svengali will be remembered so long as the theatre continues to exist in these islands. The play's author, Du Maurier, probably was known more widely as an artist than as a playwright; for he contributed for many years to Punch, and it was said that his pictures of tall, beautiful Englishwomen increased the average stature of the sex by at least two inches within twenty years. When "Trilby" appeared, however, Du Maurier's dramatic fame was secured. We daresay that, if the play should be produced in Dublin now, a cynical generation would scoff at its sentimentalities. To those whose youth was in the "nineties," however, "Trilby" was an experience. It was not great drama, but it was in tune with the spirit of the age; and thousands of elderly folk, when they hear of the passing of Dorothea Baird, will sigh for the days when the lilt of "Do you remember sweet Alice, Ben Bolt?" haunted their ears.

THE KILMARNOCK DIVISION.

MR. LANSBURY'S ADVICE TO LABOUR.

Mr. George Lansbury, leader of the Opposition, speaking at a Labour demonstration at Kilmarnock last night said that there might be a by-election in the Kilmarnock division at an early date, but they were not sure whether Mr. Craigie Aitchison would be going to his appointed place to-day or to-morrow, but he was going sometime, and they were well to be prepared.

Mr. Lansbury said that he took his stand against the Prime Minister, because he considered his policy to be of the worst description, and if the Prime Minister was the Angel Gabriel, or had feathers sprouting out of his shoulders he would still be there to oppose him.

The policy put forward by the Prime Minister was a policy which, in the judgment of the whole Labour Party, was against the best interests of the nation.

The Labour Party claimed in opposition to the Prime Minister and his friends that their's was the national policy, and that their's was the national party.

TO VISIT LONDON.

SWEDEN'S CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

STOCKHOLM, Monday.

The Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden will come to London for several weeks' stay after a motor car tour of the Continent. The Royal couple leave Stockholm to-morrow evening, and will spend some time in Italy. The trip after this will be of an entirely private nature, and last some weeks. They intend to return to Stockholm in November.

Dr. R. E. Mortimer Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, under whose direction excavations have been carried out for the past three years at Verulamium, the ancient Roman city at St. Albans, state that the operations will continue until the end of October, but may be suspended for 1934.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

A large crowd of visitors and residents cheered the Prince of Wales at Ballater yesterday, when, with Princess Helena Victoria, he left by train, en route for Perth.

The Prince acknowledged the greetings from the carriage window as the train moved off.

The Prince plays golf at St. Andrews to-morrow, when he will be partnered by Lord Castlerosse in the Royal and Ancient Club Autumn Medal Competition.

M. HERRIOT ILL.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LYONS, Monday.

M. Herriot is confined to bed with an acute attack of kidney trouble, and his temperature is over 105. At the moment his condition is described as "stationary."

Two boys escaped from Portland Borstal Institution just after lunch yesterday, and police and Borstal officers were last night patrolling main roads and railway lines leading into Portland and the whole of the neighbourhood is being combed. The authorities were of opinion that they were hiding in the stone quarries.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE HOSPITAL COMMISSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is with surprise that I note that the list of the new Hospital Board does not contain the name of one woman. I think it was generally felt that it was a defect in the first Committee appointed to go into the case of the hospitals of the Free State that there was no woman member; but with the new Commission it was hoped that this matter would be rectified.

All advanced thought on matters connected with hospitals maintains that, for all-round efficiency, the nurse's point of view must be ascertained as well as that of the doctor. In all hospital conferences, both in Europe and in America, leaders of the nursing profession are included among the members as a matter of course. According to its terms of reference, the duty of the Hospital Commission is:—"To inquire into and examine the hospital and nursing facilities; to report to the Minister for Local Government on every matter relating to those facilities; to submit to the Minister schemes for the improvement and co-ordination of hospital or nursing facilities, and to advise the Minister on any matter relating to the administration of the Hospitals' Trust Fund." I respectfully submit that, without the inclusion of an expert of the nursing profession, the Commission is not in a position

NATIONS MENACED BY WAR.

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY OPENS ON DRAMATIC NOTE.

REMINDER BY PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL.

"LITTLE PROGRESS IN FIFTEEN YEARS."

WITH some of the plainest speaking ever heard at Geneva, M. Mowinckel, the Norwegian Premier, in his rôle of President of the League Council, startled the delegates yesterday at the opening meeting of the fourteenth Assembly of the League of Nations, when he set a new precedent by his gloomy picture of recent world history, and its repercussions on the League s prestige.

The inaugural speech at the opening of the Assembly invariably deals with the events of the past year, and usually is prepared by the League Secretariat.

M. Mowinckel declared: "Fifteen years after the close of that fratricidal crime—the World War—we find, to our shame, that we have made little progress towards securing a better understanding, a purer atmosphere and a healthier mentality between the peoples.

"On the contrary, the thought of war, and the possibility of war, ever are present hanging over the nations' future as a constant menace."

The election of Mr. Te Water, South African High Commissioner in London, as the new President of the Assembly came as a surprise. His election, however, proved popular, in view of the strong line which he took in the Sino-Japanese dispute talks.

NEW PRESIDENT SURPRISE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Monday.

A touch of life was given when Dr. Goebbels, the chief German delegate, who was surrounded by a compact escort of at least fifteen men, arrived, and was greeted with the raised arm of the Nazi salute.

M. Mowinckel, in referring to the World Economic Conference, said that if States which exercised a decisive influence in the world came to a big conference with views that were difficult to reconcile, it might be said in advance that it would not be possible, even if others were agreed, to arrive at fruitful results.

He quoted a concrete example. If the group consisting of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy had come to an agreement beforehand on the stabilisation of the dollar and sterling, and on the values of their currencies in relation to others, this would have provided a solid basis for the restoration of the world economic system and for a revival of international trade.

As various conditions necessary to the realisation of such a plan were not yet present they might well ask whether it would have been better to postpone the Conference. Such a postponement would have been a less depressing influence on world opinion and on its attitude to the League of Nations.

DISARMAMENT.

The remarks which he had made with regard to the World Economic Conference also applied to the Disarmament Conference. The latter had been in session for one and a half years, and the impression created among the peoples of the world by the fact that this enterprise had not yielded any concrete results was so discouraging that it might well be asked whether this Conference, if it should close without having accomplished some part of the tasks, would not have done more harm than good to the prestige of the League of Nations.

M. Mowinckel added: "In spite of sincere efforts the League has not yet succeeded in creating a better situation in the Far East, and the effect of the disillusionment to which the situation in Europe has given rise is, perhaps, even worse."

[Here M. Mowinckel referred to the World War, as quoted above.]

M. Mowinckel's address was attuned to the weather outside; for a depressing downpour of rain damped the ardour of the onlookers, who assembled to witness the arrival of the delegates.

A PIQUANT TOUCH.

A piquant touch was provided by the seating arrangements for the delegates who are ranged in the alphabetical order of their countries. Thus the Rabbi Freedman, the Jewish member of the Australian delegation, found himself separated from the German delegation, only by a gangway.

Taking the chair as the Assembly's new President, Mr. Te Water, South African High Commissioner in London, said that he had been quite unprepared for the very great honour which the Assembly had conferred on his country and upon himself; but he would endeavour to carry out his duties without fear, favour or prejudice.

South Africa, he remarked, had experienced all the bitterness which war brought to the peoples, but, in latter days, she had experienced something more—namely, a peace which had obliterated the past.

AN EXAMPLE.

He, therefore, cited the present situation of the Union of South Africa as an example to many greater countries which were unable to settle their disputes.

As the delegate of South Africa, he added, he was bringing to the Assembly the experience of one of those countries which formed a small league of nations—namely, the group of young countries comprising the British Commonwealth.

Sir John Simon was elected one of the six vice-presidents of the Assembly. The others are:—M. Daladier, the French Prime Minister; Baron von Neurath, the German Minister for Foreign Affairs; Baron Aloisi (Italy); Señor Najera (Mexico) and Ali Khan Foroughi, the Persian Minister.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The surprise election of Mr. Te Water, who had not even been mentioned as a candidate, is the subject of general comment in League circles. It is understood that all the British Commonwealth delegates made it clear, in supporting his candidature, that it must not prejudice Australia's claim to a seat on the League Council.

Mr. Te Water's election has been very popular; for the strong and independent line which he took in the Sino-Japanese dispute discussions is held very much to his credit. His election was attended by one touch of comedy. Mr. Te Water himself was so taken by surprise that he had no speech ready and had to address the Assembly in an impromptu manner. On the other hand, one candidate, who had seemed very much in the running, had made every preparation, and had even distributed the text of a speech returning thanks for his election.

ITALIANS AS MEDIATORS.

Disarmament talks between the various statesmen have been going on to-day. Sir John Simon this evening received Baron Aloisi, who had had talks with M. Paul Boncour and Baron von Neurath earlier in the day. It appears that the Italians are playing the rôle of mediators, since there have been no direct talks between the French and German representatives.

In British circles it is hoped that the talks will have progressed sufficiently within the next ten days to enable some definite proposals to be submitted to the meeting of the Disarmament Bureau on October 15.

ITALIAN POSITION.

SIGNOR MUSSOLINI'S ATTITUDE.

"TIMES" TELEGRAMS.

ROME, Monday.

Signor Gayda, the editor of the Giornale d'Italia, who always is well informed, writes to-day on the attitude of Italy in the present phase of the disarmament question.

The question is asked, he says, "What is the position of Italy?" Her position is clear and simple. Signor Mussolini wishes the greatest possible disarmament, but his realistic sense is too great to allow him to be fixed to a rigid programme. He is, therefore, seeking by proposals of his own to find a basis of understanding between the Great Powers. The plans under discussion are various, and the question is to find in them the elements they have in common. The desire of Italy is that the Conference should not fail. There must be found, therefore, some common ground that will realise something, be it only small and partial in the way of disarmament, and will constitute a positive act to mark the beginning of a breaking down of armaments and of the bellicose spirit.

In this way a more serene international atmosphere would be created, which would permit more important resolutions to be taken in a not too far distant future.

The problem of control of armaments has this week dominated a great part of the political discussion. As regards this aspect, too, the Italian position is simple and clear. Italy accepts control of armaments on condition that it is introduced for all countries in the same forms and with the same functions. Such control cannot be unilateral, and should begin only when parity of rights between the various countries is actually realised.

WASHINGTON DEBT TALKS.

DEPARTURE OF BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the departure of the British representatives in the forthcoming debts negotiations in Washington. Sir Frederick Leith Ross, chief economic adviser to the Government, will be accompanied on the Majestic, which sails to-morrow, by the British Ambassador to the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and Mr. T. K. Bewlay, the Treasury official, who was specially attached to the Embassy in Washington.

The Ambassador, who has had much to do with the exchanges between the two Governments on the debts, will take part in the conferences.

The British desire is to obtain a final settlement of the debt problem, so that its disturbing effect upon the exchanges and upon commerce can be ended.

The conversations will open at the White House on October 3.

There is no present intention that any British Minister shall go to Washington for the debt discussions.

DUTCH PREMIER IN LONDON.

TWO HOURS' TALK WITH MR. MACDONALD.

Dr. H. Colijn, the Dutch Prime Minister, who was Chairman of the Economic Commission of the World Economic Conference, arrived by air yesterday in London and had a two hours' interview with Mr. Ramsay Macdonald at Downing street. Mr. Macdonald is president of the conference.

The interview is understood to have taken place under the arrangements made at the rising of the World Economic Conference for consultation between Mr. Macdonald and the Chairmen of the Commissions and Committees.

The Economic Commission had to leave to further examination various problems of the exchanges between the gold countries, the sterling countries, and the dollar countries.

Dr. Colijn's Commission included a subcommission on "Immediate Measures for Financial Reconstruction." The report of this body mentioned that it was "prepared to resume its task at a later stage."

REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL.

FORMER LEADER'S DEFENCE.

TORGLER DECLARES HIS INNOCENCE.

COURT DEEPLY IMPRESSED.

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

LEIPZIG, Monday.

IN ringing tones, Torgler, the former leader of the German Communists in the Reichstag, declared to the Supreme Court to-day: "I am completely innocent. I have had nothing to do with the Reichstag fire, either directly or indirectly."

This was the most dramatic incident in to-day's hearing at the Reichstag fire trial.

He had obtained permission to speak from his seat, and not to take his place in the dock, as he was not feeling well. He was also given leave to reply in his own words to the accusations made against him in the indictment without having questions put to him by the presiding judge.

"I gave myself up on the day after the fire, accompanied by two barristers, to defend myself against this monstrous charge," he said.

After an interruption by the judge, Torgler replied: "I insist on making this declaration. I have fought in prison for seven months to prove my innocence. For five months of this I was kept day and night in chains. I did not endure this torture because I am bodily strong, but because of the consciousness of my innocence, and my determination to vindicate my party of this monstrous charge."

COURT IMPRESSED.

Torgler, who spoke as he has often spoken in the Reichstag, literally dominated the Court. Referring to a remark in a German paper that he was a "commercial traveller of Communism," Torgler protested. "If this is to be an insult to the profession to which I belong, an army of 400,000 other German shop employés will rise in protest.

"If, however, it means that I make a business out of my politics, I will declare that I have as many ideas as any other man, and that I will never cease fighting in the workers' cause."

Without faltering or blustering, but raising his voice on occasions so that he filled the Court, he denied the slightest knowledge of the charges against him. In view of the repeated denials of German Ministers and German official quarters that Torgler had been kept in chains, his indignant reference to this caused a considerable sensation.

HIS LIFE.

Torgler went on to give particulars of his life. In these he laid stress on his close and unbroken connection with the Reichstag, which was shown to have been the centre of all his activities ever since he first joined it in 1925.

He recited a long list of committees he belonged to. His clear statements, faultless elocution and obvious rhetorical talents made a deep impression on the Court.

Torgler concluded his speech: "I should like, with all emphasis, to say that the fight for Socialism has become the sense and content of my life. I have fought in the interests of the workers with all the idealism that a man can muster, and I shall not cease to do my best for the German working class."

MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

He confessed that he had been influenced by his mother, who had been a Socialist for years. At eighteen he joined the Socialist Party, in 1919 the Independent Socialists, and in 1920 he became a Communist.

Van der Lubbe, the accused Dutchman, who again refused the help of an interpreter, was asked if in a Communist tavern in Berlin, Neukoeln, he had said that he was a Communist, but did not agree with the Communist leaders, who were too "tame."

"Yes," said Van der Lubbe.

"Did you say that the future of the workers all depended on Germany"?—"May be."

RADICAL MEASURES.

"Did you say that extremely radical measures must be taken"?—"Yes."

"While watching a Nazi procession on one occasion, did you say in an excited voice: 'Something must be done'"?—"May be."

His conversation outside the Neukoeln welfare office with two men—Facco and Bingen, who would be called as witnesses—was grudgingly admitted by Van der Lubbe to have been in the same strain, but he did not suggest specifically that the Reichstag should be fired.

Asked if he had stated that he had been sent to Germany by the Communist Party of Holland, Van der Lubbe said, "No."

"Why did you visit Germany"?—"Out of interest."

COUNTER-ACTIONS.

"Did you say that it was necessary for the workers to make counter-actions, and that that was the way the Russian revolution had been carried out, and that it was not too late"?—"May be."

"Did you say that it was necessary to fire public buildings so that the workers might recognise that the time had come"?—"Yes."

"Did you say that it would be necessary to provoke the storm troops and to inflame the people"?—"Possibly."

"Did you inquire where the Communist headquarters were"?—"No."

Torgler suggested that the organisation that he belonged to was virtually anarchist

TANEFF EXAMINED.

Taneff, one of the three accused Bulgarians, said that he came to Berlin from Moscow on February 24th, and was met by Popoff at the station. He had orders to proceed to Paris, and to agitate for an amnesty for Bulgarian political prisoners. Asked what had been his job in the Central Committee of the Bulgarian Communist Party, Taneff refused to "play into the hands of the Bulgarian authorities by answering."

Dr. Seuffert, official counsel for Van der Lubbe, asked Taneff if he had known Van der Lubbe.

"How could I? I do not know a word of German," he replied.

Dr. Teichert (counsel for Taneff)—"I would like to point out that Van der Lubbe himself was shaking with laughter at this question."

ACCUSED MAN'S SISTER.

Mlle. Elene Dimitroff, sister of one of the accused Bulgarians, has submitted to the Court as counsel for Dimitroff the names of five foreign barristers—the American lawyer, Mr. Leo Gallagher, who arrived from Los Angeles last night; a Frenchman and three Bulgarians—who have come to Leipzig.

The Bulgarian lawyer, M. Deutscheff, has received a commission from the Court, in consequence, to submit suggestions to Dr. Teichert.

Early in to-day's proceedings Dr. Teichert obtained permission to call Mlle. Dimitroff as a witness.

A good-looking young woman, wearing a grey coat and a bright blue beret, was brought into Court.

The Court adjourned at 2.30 p.m. until to-morrow morning.

THE CENSURE MOTION.

TEXT PRESENTED AT LEINSTER HOUSE

CASE OF WATERFORD FARMERS.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE text of the censure motion to be moved by the United Ireland Party was handed in at Leinster House yesterday, and will appear on the Order Paper of the Dail to-morrow. It will be moved by Mr. Frank MacDermot, and is in the following terms:—

"That, in the opinion of the Dail, the Government's use of the Constitution (Amendment No. 17) Act, 1931, has been unjust and oppressive and is deserving of censure."

In this connection it is interesting to note that Mr. W. Norton, chairman of the Labour Party, and one of his colleagues had the first of the "frequent consultations," arranged on the occasion of the recent reconstitution of the Fianna Fail-Labour aliance, at Government Buildings last evening. The Labour representatives saw President de Valera and a couple of other Ministers for about an hour, after which the President left to attend a meeting of the Fianna Fail Executive at the offices in Upper Mount street.

Mr. de Valera again saw the Labour leaders on his return, and the consultation was still in progress at midnight.

It is probable that the President discussed with the Labour representatives the censure motion handed in by Mr. MacDermot earlier in the day. When the Dail meets to-morrow the President will be asked to give time for the discussion of the motion, and it is not unlikely that he will offer Thursday and Friday for this purpose. It will presumably be the wish of all parties in the House to have the discussion as early as possible. In view of the wide terms of the motion it is unlikely that the debate will be concluded at one sitting.

WATERFORD FARMERS.

It is understood that the nine Waterford farmers who have been awaiting trial in Mountjoy Prison for several weeks will be brought before the Military Tribunal, probably on Monday next. The prisoners, it is believed, were served with a summary of the charge or charges to be brought against them last Saturday evening. These will probably allege membership of an unlawful association concerned with advocating non-payment of rates. The solicitor to the Attorney-General, Mr. John S. O'Connor, of Ormond quay, is conducting the necessary preliminaries. The Attorney-General will not conduct the prosecution in person, but will be represented by other counsel. Mr. Cecil Lavery, K.C., will probably lead for the defence.

UNITED IRELAND CONVENTIONS.

General O'Duffy was at the offices of the United Ireland Party, 3 Merrion square, Dublin, yesterday, and was present at a meeting of the Executive Committee of that body, when important matters of policy were discussed. He has arranged to attend county conventions of the party during the present week as follows:—

Wednesday, for County Meath, at Navan, 3 o'clock.

Thursday, for County Kilkenny, at Kilkenny City Hall, 3 o'clock.

Friday, for County Carlow, at Carlow Town Hall, 3 o'clock.

He will also attend and speak at a great public meeting to be held in Cork on Sunday.

FREE MILK SCHEME.

NEW PLAN OF ADMINISTRATION.

As from the end of this week there will come into operation a new scheme for the administration of free milk for poor children in the Free State.

Hitherto the provision of free milk was confined to persons in receipt of home assistance. That arrangement had certain disadvantages. It has now been decided to supply free milk to children of necessitous parents up to five years, and, in addition, to delicate children from five to sixteen without any other condition except that their parents are unable to provide sufficient milk, and that the medical officer certifies their condition.

It has been decided to transfer this work from the poor law bodies to the sanitary authorities. In this way closer supervision will be assured, as instead of 28 or 29 different bodies doing the work there will now be 92 bodies.

Schemes in local areas must be approved by the Minister for Local Government. The money advanced under these schemes will be applicable to the cost of the milk only, and not to costs of administration. The quantity of milk for children under five years shall not exceed 1 pint per child daily; for 2 children 1½ pints, and for 3 children 2 pints. Delicate children may receive 1 pint daily.

PENSIONS FOR WIDOWS.

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The committee which has been inquiring into the question of a widows' and orphans' pension scheme for the Free State has, it it understood, presented its report. It is not entirely unanimous, but on the question of a contributory or non-contributory scheme thirteen of the fifteen members have reported in favour of a non-contributory scheme and two in favour of a contributory scheme.

The maximum basic pension recommended for a childless widow in the majority report is 15s. per week. The Labour representatives on the majority, while supporting recognition of the principle, put forward their views in the memorandum, which urges increases in the scale. A widow without means would receive 15s. per week, with 3s. for the first child and graded allowances for subsequent children. In proportion to means, the pension would be reduced until, at a certain level, she would not be eligible.

It is estimated that the number of widows in the Free State is approximately 80,000, and that a non-contributory scheme would require a sum of about £680,000 a year. A contributory scheme would cost the State substantially less.

A suggested test as to means would have the effect of reducing the number very considerably.

NEW PORTUGUESE WARSHIPS.

£70,800 FOR GLASGOW FIRM.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LISBON, Monday.

The Government to-day paid Messrs. Yarrow, of Glasgow, the sum of £70,800 in settlement of the instalments due for four new Portuguese warships which are under construction, one of them in Glasgow and the others in Lisbon.

THE BLOODSTOCK INDUSTRY.

THREATENED WITH RUIN.

EFFECTS OF THE CUSTOMS DUTIES.

DWINDLING VALUE OF ENGLISH TRADE.

GLOOMY views regarding the future of the Irish bloodstock breeding industry were expressed to an Irish Times representative in a series of interviews yesterday.

The bloodstock industry is one of the most seriously affected of those suffering as a result of the economic war with Great Britain. A duty of 40 per cent. is payable on horses imported into England, and the consequences of that duty are illustrated by the following figures:—

In the year 1931, before the duty was imposed, the Irish Free State exported to England 10,818 horses, valued at £1,960,595. The duty came into operation in August, 1932, and in the eleven months immediately following the number of horses exported to England was 4,001 and their value £220,518.

AVERAGE VALUES.

In the first six months of 1932 the Free State exported 5,267 horses, valued at £947,991. In the first six months of the present year the Free State exported 3,487 horses, valued at £344,608. The average value of the horses exported thus fell from £180 to £98 per animal, while £603,383 less came into the country.

The manager of a bloodstock agency pointed out that, as a result of the duty on horses going to England, two of the best stallions in the country—Stratford and Soldennis—had been taken away. Other famous sires might follow them. Owners of mares were not going to bring them to Ireland for service when they had to pay a duty of 40 per cent. on any foals born here. It would be a grave reflection on the country if such horses as Stratford and Soldennis were followed to England by animals like Tetratema, Blandford, Prince Galahad and Beresford.

It was, he believed, as a direct result of the tariff that the well-known trainer, Mr. Hubert Hartigan, transferred his establishment to Penrith.

CUSTOMS DELAYS.

Although there had recently been some improvement, serious delays occurred at the British Customs. The horses imported into England were valued by a committee, or an individual, in London, and inconvenience had been caused by the time that elapsed before the official valuation was received.

Unfortunately, the buyers and breeders abroad had got an impression that 40 per cent. extra had to be paid for every Irish horse exported, whereas it was only to animals going into Great Britain and Northern Ireland that the duty applied.

THE ENGLISH TRADE.

Another bloodstock agent said that the only trade which mattered was the English trade.

He quoted the following figures bearing on the export of Irish horses for 1931:—

Country of Importation.	No.	Value.	Average Value.
Great Britain	10,818	£1,960,595	£180
India	45	£24,700	£547
France	110	£32,000	£295
U.S.A.	105	£21,800	£208
Switzerland	1,116	£53,725	£48
Belgium	1,919	£13,006	£8

The Free State Government, it was stated, had refused to give a bounty on horses exported to Great Britain and Northern Ireland, as they had done in the case of cattle. There were, it was admitted, many difficulties in the way.

SUGGESTED POLL TAX.

It seems that the importation of horses into England would be facilitated if a poll tax were substituted for the present duty of 40 per cent. It is estimated that the British Customs collected £50,000 in duty on horses in the ten months ended May, 1933. In the first three months of that period the duty was at the rate of 20 per cent., and in the remaining months at 40 per cent. A poll tax of £10 per animal would have realised quite as much.

The payment of a bounty would be simplified were a poll tax substituted for the present tax, but when that view was put before a bloodstock agent he was not enthusiastic. He declared that the importer or his middleman would get the bounty, and the Irish breeder would get none of it. He admitted, however, that a poll tax would probably make trading easier.

INNOCENT VICTIMS.

As is indicated by the decrease in the average value of horses exported in the first half of this year as compared with the first half of 1932, it is the sale of high-priced animals which is most affected by the duty.

"The bloodstock breeders are innocent victims of a political dispute," it was stated. As a result of that dispute one of the country's greatest industries was facing ruin. The horse-breeding industry is one of the biggest employers of labour in Ireland, and it pays high wages. Virtually all its requirements are obtained in the country. Huge quantities of oats are required to feed the horses, but as a result of the present situation they are being kept on grass to avoid the cost of stable feeding, and the farmers find themselves with a superfluity of grain of which they cannot dispose.

SALES OF YEARLINGS.

Notwithstanding the duty, the sales of yearlings by Messrs. Goff in August last in Dublin showed an improvement of 12,449 guineas upon those of August, 1932, the total amount realised being 40,769 guineas. The sales were, no doubt, helped by an arrangement whereby the price paid at the sales was accepted by the British Customs as the valuation for import duty. As a result, the delay consequent upon the London valuation was obviated.

Since August last, an agent pointed out, there have been virtually no sales. There had been cases where horses were bought privately or otherwise than at Goff's sales, and, in face of documentary evidence of the price paid and honest declarations of value, the British assessors had put an excess value on the horses.

RACING AFFECTED.

The tariff on horses has had a serious effect upon racing in Northern Ireland. Owing to the small number of Free State owners prepared to pay 40 per cent. duty on their horses for the privilege of running them in the Six Counties, the Downpatrick meeting of this year was abandoned, while at the Maze two one-day instead of two two-day meetings were run.

It should be pointed out, however, that no duty is payable upon the exportation to Great Britain and Northern Ireland of a horse which has ever been there before, provided that a certificate to the effect is obtained from Messrs. Weatherby.

Lord Runciman, speaking at the opening of a building society's premises at Newcastle yesterday, said:—"I think my public career has been as quarrelsome as that of anybody else, because I thought the best way to attract attention was to kick up a row and say things people objected to. You can always get an audience if you go on that tack."

SCENES IN KILRUSH.

CROWD'S ATTACK ON BLUE SHIRTS.

MILITARY ARRIVE IN THE TOWN.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

KILRUSH, Monday.

SHORTLY after eight o'clock last night a party of twenty Blue Shirts coming from a Lahinch meeting arrived in Burton street. Immediately afterwards a number of young men gathered and began to shout "Up the Republic."

Soon the street was crowded, and when the Blue Shirts got off their lorry the crowd became excited and tried to mob them, and they had to take refuge in the house of Mr. Michael Butler. Civic Guards were soon on the scene under Inspector Kelly, and formed a cordon around Mr. Butler's house.

Several attempts were made by the crowd to rush the Guards, but, though small in numbers, they held the crowd back.

APPEALS TO THE CROWD.

Canon Hogan, P.P., arrived on the scene and asked the crowd to go home, and endeavoured to turn some of them away, but they remained, and Mr. Thomas Nagle, Chairman of the Kilrush Urban Council, addressed them, and asked them not to do anything that would reflect on Kilrush, and to take Canon Hogan's advice and go home.

The crowd listened but did not move. One man rushed towards Mr. Nagle.

Canon Hogan again addressed a crowd in the Square and advised them to go home peacefully. They moved away for a time, but again returned in larger numbers.

MOTOR CAR ATTACKED.

Inspector Gilroy arrived with a number of Civic Guards, and formed a cordon at the entrance to Burton street. Immediately after a motor car, driven by Mr. Marinan, Kilkee, arrived, and when going up Burton street was stopped by the Guards. When the driver said that he came to take the Blue Shirts home to Labasheeda, the crowd rushed the car, threw stones and bottles, and smashed the glass.

The driver backed the car, and the crowd tried to drag him out of it, but he drove away.

The excitement continued for several hours afterwards. More contingents of Guards arrived and marched to Mr. Butler's house and formed a cordon around it. They got out the twenty Blue Shirts and escorted them, amidst cries from the crowd of "Up the Republic," "Up de Valera," to the Kilrush barracks. The crowd followed to the barracks.

SHOTS IN THE STREETS.

Shots were fired on the streets during the night, but nobody was injured. Later the Blue Shirts were conveyed safely home by the Guards. Some of the Guards and detectives were struck with stones during the excitement.

Two lorries of military arrived in the town later.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

MEETINGS IN GENEVA.

The Times, in a leading article on the Assembly of the League of Nations, which met at Geneva yesterday, remarks: It is, indeed, strange that, while every sort of international jamboree, whether of scouts or of athletes or of men of science, is habitually hailed as an excellent occasion for the improvement of international relations, doubt is regularly cast upon the usefulness of the annual meeting at Geneva of those who politically represent their nations and are directly responsible for the terms on which they are to live with one another. Such doubts have been more freely expressed than ever this year, and never have those in charge of British policy received more peremptory injunctions to clear out of troubled Europe by express train, casting their treaty obligations out of the window as they go. That is the counsel of selfish pusillanimity. To adopt it would be to defy not merely history and geography, but common-sense, and the common desire to make the world a better place.

Germany, beyond all question, is the most nationally inclined of all the States of Europe at the present time, and her leaders normally make hardly any contacts with the outside world. But the Reich has sent a fully representative delegation to the Assembly, including Baron Neurath (the Foreign Minister) and Herr Goebbels, one of the most fanatical and eloquent champions of national Socialism, now Minister of Propaganda. The contacts which the German delegates have already begun to make, the full opportunity they will have in the Assembly debates and in its committees of expressing their views, their participation in the common routine work of the League, should make a beginning of drawing Germany out of herself and into the community of nations again. The League is still in this respect a mediatorial and unifying influence. The fact remains that, in spite of all the rumours of war which have lately been heard in Europe, there has not been a war, and the frequent personal conversations held between responsible statesmen at Geneva may have had a good deal to do with its prevention.

HUNGER-STRIKE BREAKING DOWN.

TWO MEN RELEASED ON BAIL.

Two of the hunger-strikers at Mountjoy Prison yesterday abandoned their fast, and, after entering into recognisances to be of good behaviour, were released last night. They are A. Hayden (28), of Dun Laoghaire, and A. Byrne (21), of Glasthule. Each of them had completed ten days of hunger-strike.

They left the prison shortly before 11 p.m., after entering into bail bonds before Mr. Hannon, District Justice.

Only three of the seven men who were on hunger-strike are still refusing food. They are Christopher Luby, Drogheda; Sean Hunt, Dun Laoghaire—both of whom are on their seventeenth day of fasting—and T. Grogan, Drogheda, who is on his twelfth day.

FROM LIMERICK TO DUBLIN ON FOOT.

FOUR MEN TO SEE A MINISTER.

A deputation on behalf of the Limerick recipients of Home Assistance, consisting of James Walshe, Michael McCaffrey, William O'Reilly, and Michael Hannigan has left Limerick on foot for Dublin to place before the Minister for Local Government the distressing position of Home Assistance recipients in the city.

The Mayor (Mr. P. F. Quinlan) gave them a letter of introduction to the Minister setting out the object of the visit.

FIGHT AGAINST DEPRESSION.

NO CURRENCY INFLATION

RELEASE OF "FROZEN" DEPOSITS.

AMERICA'S "BUY NOW" DRIVE.

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

THE interest in America's battle against depression now tends to be focussed on the financial issue, and an important White House Conference has been held at which, it is understood, the main subject discussed was the release of "frozen" deposits and the expansion of credit.

At the same time negotiations for industrial codes continue: the leaders of the steel industry have been summoned to a White House conference, and General Johnson plans to inaugurate a big "buy now" campaign on October 1.

CUBA'S SUGAR QUOTA.

President Roosevelt's latest success is the reaching of complete agreement on the sugar stabilisation question. The agreement empowers the President, or his nominee, to raise or lower Cuba's tentative sugar quota, and limits the amount of raw sugar which producers may supply to the domestic market to around 7,000,000 tons annually.

The agreement further provides for a sugar reserve corporation which might absorb, or hold off from the market temporarily, any excess of sugar due to the raising of the quota. A sugar stabilisation board, composed of nine members, also is to be created for the purpose of executing agreements, subject to the supervision of President Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

The White House conference on the financial policy of the United States was attended by President Roosevelt, Mr. Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury; Mr. Wallace, Mr. Black, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Mr. Douglas, Director of the Budget; and Mr. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency.

INFLATION ISSUE.

Reports that the conference would discuss immediate inflation of the currency were discounted by Mr. Early, Assistant Secretary to the President, who stated that no new moves were contemplated.

Upon leaving the White House after the conference, Mr. Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury, said: "Everything looks very hopeful."

It is understood that among the subjects discussed was the eligibility of certain banks, which are not members of the Federal Reserve system, to come within the law for the insurance of bank deposits, which comes into force on February 1.

The President also is believed to have discussed thoroughly the problem presented by the failure of commercial banks to expand credit to industry and agriculture sufficiently for the purposes of the national recovery campaign. It is indicated that the President has legal power to issue many billions of new currency, but that he does not believe this will be necessary if the banks will furnish to business the great volume of potential credit which he estimates is now lying idle.

"FROZEN" FUNDS.

Methods of releasing the funds frozen in the banks of rural communities also were discussed by the conference, it is understood. This appears necessary, it is said, owing to the fact that the price of farm products still is lagging behind the cost of the other things that the farmer must buy.

The Administration, in effect, informs the bankers that the Government's thousands of millions of dollars are held in readiness to help the banks give the industries of their communities the credit they need to increase employment.

BREAD PRICES.

The Agricultural Administration has summoned the American Bakers' Association to explain the disparity of bread prices in various cities.

Figures since the introduction of the National Recovery Act show some improvement in the national situation in most cases. The Federal Reserve Board bulletin indices give production of industry for August as 92, against 100 for July. Employment pay rolls have increased, but figures are not yet given. It is estimated, however, that 2,200,000 people have been re-employed since March.

Wholesale commodity prices have been fluctuating in a narrow band about 17 per cent. higher than in March. Prices for farm products have decreased, while those for petroleum, coal and other raw materials have increased.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY.

The magazine Steel estimates last week's production of steel at 40 per cent. of the industry's capacity, but the American Metal Market puts the figure at 36 per cent.

President Roosevelt has summoned the leaders of the steel industry to discuss the reduction in prices of steel rails, with a view to facilitating employment in the steel industry. Among those summoned are Mr. Myron Taylor, of the United States Steel Corporation; Mr. Eugene Grace, of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and Mr. Leblock, of the Inland Steel Corporation.

A WARNING.

A striking warning to the American people—that unless they adopt a "long-time world trading policy, such as behoves creditors" to restore world trade, they will have to take out of production forty million surplus acres planted during the War—was given in a speech to-night by Mr. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

"No amount of inflation, no dumping nor efforts at stabilisation, no attempt at price-fixing, will of themselves prove enough," said Mr. Wallace. "Combined with control of production they might help, but without that they are only patchworks of a structure that is badly off balance."

The Appointments Commissioners have forwarded the names of Mr. G. D. O'Connell, solicitor, Tralee, and Mr. D. F. O'Shea, solicitor, Killarney, for the position of solicitor to the Kerry Board of Health. The Board placed Mr. O'Connell first.

THURLES RAID CHARGE.

TWO MEN REMANDED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CLONMEL, Monday.

"As soldiers of the Irish Republican Army we refuse to recognise the Court," declared two young men—Joseph Walsh, Rathronan, Clonmel, and Charles Lambe, Glenconner, Clonmel—when charged at the District Court here to-day with having taken part in a raid for arms in Fethard on Tuesday last.

Evidence was given to the effect that the raid took place on a house occupied by four young women—the Misses Morrissey and the Misses Walsh—one of whom, Miss Brenda Morrissey, a native of Kildare, is in charge of a bookmaker's office in the house.

The men, it was alleged, told Miss Morrissey that they wanted her revolver. When she said that she had not a revolver one of the men proceeded upstairs to her bedroom and searched it. The other man remained on guard downstairs in the meantime. One of the men said that they were sent by the I.R.A., and that the house was surrounded. The two men left after a while. Both were unmasked, and it was said were identified at an identification parade in Clonmel subsequently by the Misses Morrissey. One of the Misses Walsh identified one of the men.

Sergeant Murphy said that when charged the accused refused to make any statement.

Mr. O'Conner, who prosecuted, asked for a remand for a fortnight. There might, he added, be other charges, and other men might be charged.

The accused men were remanded in custody for a fortnight.

The court was crowded during the proceedings, and when the Justice had left the bench a voice from one of the galleries shouted "Up, the Republic."

IRISH SUGAR COMPANY

REGISTRATION IN DUBLIN.

The Irish Sugar Company, Ltd., the new concern which has been formed by the Free State Government to control the factories erected under the Government's beet-sugar production scheme, has been registered with the Registrar of Free State Joint Stock Companies, under the Irish title of Comhlucht Suicre Eireann, Teoranta. The capital, as was announced by the Minister for Finance, when the enabling bill was moved in the Dail, is £2,000,000, divided into two million shares of £1 each.

The objects of the company are to erect and operate at least three new sugar factories and to acquire the existing Carlow concern. It is understood that the price of acquisition for the latter, which has a capital of £400,000, will be about £450,000, exclusive of £50,000 for stocks and fittings of the factory.

The public issue of shares will take place after the final terms of acquisition have been ratified by the directors of the company at a meeting which is to be held this week. Subject to the permission of the Minister for Finance, the shares may be classified, and have attached thereto any preferential, qualified, or special rights and privileges.

With regard to location of factories, it is understood that Galway is certain to provide a site for one.

THE IMPRISONED FARMERS.

"DECENT, UPRIGHT MEN."

Speaking in Cashel at the formation of a branch of the United Ireland Organisation, Mr. J. P McCann said that the Government had resurrected the Public Safety Act, which they themselves had described as the last word in coercion, and applied it in the case of nine County Waterford farmers, who had been forced to expose their poverty and misfortunes.

These hard-working men had found that the fruits of their labours were unavailing; they were unable to meet their obligations, to pay their rates or rents. He knew these nine farmers to be decent, upright men.

There was never greater necessity for the people to unite, because they were faced with a state of affairs which threatened the extinction of the last remnants of the little freedom left to them. He assured them that by joining hand-in-hand for the success of United Ireland they would be certain to realise the ambition of every patriotic Irishman—to see Ireland one and undivided.

ALD. W. W. KELLY'S WILL.

ESTATE OF ABOUT £12,000.

Alderman W. W. Kelly, well-known in Dublin, Liverpool, and elsewhere as a theatre proprietor, who died in his 80th year, last week, has left about £12,000 gross.

In his will, dated August 28, 1933, the testator left a number of legacies of a small amount to Liverpool and district charities, and to Conservative clubs situated in the ward which he had represented.

He left £50 to the Theatrical Managers' Association in Liverpool, and an annuity of £104, free of all duties, to Mrs. Ethel Myers Warwick Fryer, "in recognition of her valued and loyal services as my private secretary and nurse."

To his chauffeur, Henry Willacy, he leaves his Daimler car. The will disposed of various theatrical souvenirs, including an oil painting of his late wife, professionally known as Edith Cole—the Empress Josephine, in "A Royal Divorce," which goes to the Birkenhead Art Gallery.

OBITUARY.

SURGEON PATRICK EDWARD HAYDEN.

We regret to announce the death, which occurred early this morning in a Dublin nursing home, of Surgeon Patrick Edward Hayden, of 26 Lower Fitzwilliam square, Dublin, who was for many years Visiting Surgeon to Jervis Street Hospital, and also late Surgeon of the Dublin Castle Hospital. He qualified in 1905, taking the Joint Licentiate of Medicine and Surgery, and in 1907 he gained the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons. He was an Examiner in Surgery and Pathology of the Apothecaries Hall, a member of the Council of the R.C.S.I. and Fellow of the Royal Academy of Medicine, and was also an ex-President of the Irish Medical Association.

DR. MAURICE O'REILLY.

By the death of Dr. Maurice O'Reilly, Rector of St. John's College in the University of Sydney, Australia has lost one of its most distinguished ecclesiastics. Born at Queenstown, Co. Cork, Dr. O'Reilly was educated at St. Colman's College, Fermoy, and Maynooth. He joined the Vincentians in 1887, and, having served for some years in Sheffield, he was appointed to Sydney.

He became noted for his literary gifts, and early in his career was reckoned one of the most popular lecturers in Australia. He was a public lecturer for some twenty years, and many institutions in the colony are much indebted to his eloquent vindication of their claims on the public. Dr. O'Reilly was the first Provincial of the Australian Province of the Vincentians, and under his rule a very considerable development of the works of the congregation took place. A personal friend of the late Cardinal Moran, he entered into many controversies in which the Cardinal figured.

WALKING ARSENAL OF PALESTINE.

HUNT FOR NOTED DESPERADO.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

JERUSALEM, Monday.

British officers in charge of a posse of local police are engaged in the biggest man hunt in the history of Palestine. They are looking for Abu Jildeh, the notorious desert desperado, who is accused of seventeen murders. He is known as the "King of Highwaymen," and he has a gang of four followers. Wireless is being used in the hunt, and regular police and specials, disguised as Arabs, are operating in the Nablus district. So anxious are the authorities to capture the elusive bandit that it is understood that East African police dogs are to be imported, and two officers of the local constabulary are to be sent to Kenya Colony to study latest methods of canine tracking.

Abu Jildeh is literally a "walking arsenal." He carries some German rifles, a revolver, a dagger, and a considerable amount of ammunition. He has sworn never to be captured alive, and boasts that he will commit suicide first. He never eats unless someone has first tasted the food. He is afraid that the villagers whom he has levied for food may poison him to obtain the large reward on his head.

Abu Jildeh murdered two mounted native Palestinian constables this summer.

Mr. S. van Vrigsland, Dutch Consul-General and general manager of the Dead Sea Potash concession, who was recently shot at and slightly grazed on the shoulder while motoring at Jericho, gave a description of one of his Bedouin assailants that closely corresponded to Abu Jildeh.

THE TROUBLE IN CUBA.

UNITED STATES OFFER TO FOREIGNERS.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

The nationals of any country resident in Cuba are welcome to avail themselves of the assistance of United States Marines should conditions there render it necessary to land American forces, it was announced by Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, to-day.

Mr. Hull added that he thought if actual killings, through mob violence, occurred the United States Naval commanders would be obliged to use their own judgment as regards the action they might deem necessary.

He denied the report that a British warship was stationed near Cuba, adding that he had not heard of any British vessel nearer than Trinidad.

HAVANA, Monday.

Captain Juan Fernandez, one of the opponents of ex-President Machado, who was recently reported to have started a new revolt of his own, visited the Presidential Palace here to-day in order to prove to the authorities that he was not leading any revolt against President San Martin.

His explanation was summed up in the words, "It is all a misinterpretation."

This was evidently accepted; for later on President San Martin, Colonel Batista and he were photographed together, all three wreathed in smiles and shaking hands.

WAR THREAT IN CHINA.

JAPANESE ULTIMATUM TURNED DOWN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PEIPING (PEKING), Monday.

Less than twenty-four hours are left for General Fang Chen Wu to fulfil the demands of the Japanese ultimatum and withdraw his troops southward out of the zone which was demilitarised earlier this year under the Tangcu armistice. So far, the General, who is regarded by the Chinese Government as a virtual rebel, has disregarded the Japanese demand. A Japanese aeroplane flying over the city on Saturday dropped leaflets bearing the Japanese ultimatum. General Fang quickly replied.

According to well-informed Japanese sources, a delegate from the General called on the Japanese military attaché here and stated that General Fang's movement was purely patriotic. He asked the Japanese military to "wait and see" before opening hostilities. He refuses to withdraw from Huairu, and expects to reach the suburbs of Peking within a few days. He hopes the Japanese will refrain from action until then. The attaché transmitted the reply to Changchun, capital of Manchukuo, where it is reported it was found unsatisfactory.

Measures against General Fang are expected, and thus North China may shortly see another outbreak of fighting.

GERMAN GIRL SMOKERS.

PRISON FOR "RUDENESS" TO NAZI TROOPERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

COLOGNE, Monday.

Because they were said to have been "very rude" to some Nazi troopers, who reprimanded them for smoking in a restaurant, two local girls have been sentenced to 26 and 14 days' imprisonment, respectively. One apparently was ruder than the other.

According to a story told in Court, the girls had been to a birthday party. Afterwards they "finished up" at a restaurant in which the troopers were sitting. One of the girls lit a cigarette. The troopers reminded them that "German women do not smoke in public." The girls appear to have told the troopers what they thought of the no-smoking order in none too polite language. The upshot was that they were arrested.

REVISE HUNGARIAN FRONTIER.

BRITISH M.P. AND PROSPERITY OF CENTRAL EUROPE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BUDAPEST, Monday.

Leaving Budapest to-day to return to London after six weeks spent in studying the Peace Treaty revision question, Lieutenant-Colonel Thomas Moore, M.P., told Reuter "that British M.P.'s interested in the Trianon Treaty already number 120. I feel that Central Europe's economic prosperity cannot be achieved until substantial alterations have been made in Hungary's frontiers, and I intend to urge the Government to place the matter on the agenda of the League. But it is understood by M.P.'s that British action in regard to the Treaty of Trianon should have French support."

Another of the small party of British M.P's now in Hungary have in speeches warned Hungarians against expecting immediate results. "Most of us are humble backbenchers," said Colonel J. Baldwin-Webb.

HELIOPOLIS SHOOTING

ARREST OF BEDUIN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CAIRO, Tuesday.

SMUGGLING CHARGE.

CO. COUNCILLOR PROSECUTED.

A MOTOR THAT COST £8.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CARRICKMACROSS Monday.

The Court-house was thronged here to-day at the hearing of a charge against Patrick Conlon, Mullinary, Carrickmacross, of being concerned in the attempted smuggling into the Free State at Ballybinniby, Co. Louth, of a motor car.

Bernard Joseph Culleton, Mullinary, was also charged with being fraudulently concerned, but it was agreed to hear Conlon's case first.

George Roland, garage owner, Newry, said that on 17th July Conlon and Culleton called to his garage in connection with the purchase of a secondhand car. They were bargaining for a Chevrolet, Conlon bidding £8. The price was eventually fixed at £9, delivery to be taken the following afternoon. Culleton called for the car and paid the price in notes, and a receipt was given in Conlon's name.

Culleton, in evidence, stated that he drove Conlon and three others to Camlough Fair, near Newry, in Peter Maron's car. On the way Conlon remarked that he intended buying a cheap car in Newry, and asked would witness drive it across the frontier. Witness replied that there might be a car worth the money with the duty paid that they could buy. When at Roland's, Conlon and witness took out a Morris car for a trial, but Conlon was dissatisfied with the engine, and also he said a bigger car was better for fairs, and the Chevrolet was purchased then. Witness further stated that a young man named MacCabe was present and stated he knew a certain unguarded road, and undertook to drive the car across the border if he got money. It was agreed that MacCabe would get £5. Witness was to take the car from the border the following day. Witness called at Conlon's residence a second time that night for the price of the car. Conlon was in bed and spoke from the window, saying he would leave the money next morning in Mr. Daly's house. Witness was to get £5 for his trouble.

BROKE NUMBER PLATES.

Conlon said he was going to a Board of Health meeting that morning, and when witness said he had to go to Nobber Fair in the morning Conlon replied, "You are kicking out of it now." Witness said he would go to Newry. After returning from Nobber Conlon was absent, but as a result of what a maid told him he went to Daly's house and got the price of the car there and signed the receipt. He paid Roland and MacCabe, and witness took the car to Blackstaff, on the border. They came by the Dundalk-Castleblayney road, and at Blackstaff broke the number plates. MacCabe painted new number plates and took the car from Blackstaff to Carrickmacross.

Conlon was delighted, and said it would be better not to get it away till all was quiet. The car was not stored in Conlon's garage. Witness later told Conlon that the Guards heard of the smuggling, and Conlon accused him of backing out of it, and advised him to sell the car and not take anything less than £25 for it.

Witness took the car to Dublin, accompanied by Conlon and his son, and the car was sold at Doran's garage in part payment for another.

Conlon, in evidence, denied any connection with the smuggling, and said the £5 left at Daly's was a loan to Culleton, to whom he often lent money. He also lent Culleton £5 to have the second car taxed. He afterwards negotiated with Culleton to buy that car to ensure the refund of the money lent, and the car was sold to him at £40. Defendant further stated he paid Culleton the balance due, £14, in the presence of two witnesses, £3 being paid by cheque.

Culleton denied this, stating he was paid only £3 for smuggling the car.

Mr. P. J. Roe, B.L. (instructed by Messrs. Phelan and Co.), for the defence, said Mr. Conlon was a member of Monaghan County Council for the past eight years, and Carrickmacross Urban Council for twenty-four years and Board of Health for six years, and was a most respectable man. Culleton, added counsel, made two statements to the Guards, the second one of which was contradictory of the first, and involving Mr. Conlon. Culleton's story that he was not owner was a tissue of lies.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned to Castleblayney.

NEW STANDARD CARS.

BETTER THAN EVER.

The 1934 programme of the Standard Motor Company was revealed to a gathering of representatives of the motor trade, which included Mr. P. McEntagart, of Dublin, at the Standard works at Canley, Coventry, yesterday. It comprises new four-cylinder cars and six-cylinder models covering a wide range of powers and sizes, which will be found to be outstandingly good value when the prices are made known.

Bodywork is of entirely new design and the mechanism comprises changes of a definite character. A notable introduction is the use of synchro-mesh gears not only for the third and top speeds but also for the second speed, a feature that will be greatly appreciated. The synchro-mesh gears, combined with controlled free-wheeling, will enable motorists to obtain silent and quick gear changes at any road speed. Buoyant power is obtained by the use of improved engine mountings, while the cross-braced frames gave remarkable strength for their weight.

The newly-designed framework enables a low outline to be secured without loss of head-room inside, so that the general result is a car which provides ample room for head, body and legs. At the same time the safety factor has not been overlooked, for a very low centre of gravity has been secured.

At one end of the range is a 20 h.p. landaulette and at the other end is a most attractive 9 h.p. model, and in between the two there are 10 h.p., 12 h.p. and 16 h.p. models. The 12 h.p. figures as a four-cylinder and a six-cylinder car.

In all cases the design is sound and thoroughly modern, while the finish displays the excellence of workmanship which always has been associated with Standard productions.

Mr. R. W. Maudslay, the chairman of the company, yesterday, paid a tribute to the success of Captain P. J. Black, who joined the company some two years ago, and has recently been appointed managing director jointly with Mr. Maudslay, the chairman and founder of the company.

Captain Black has reorganised the works, and introduced a programme for 1934 which should raise the high reputation of Standard motors to a still higher level. Much was expected as a result of the untiring efforts of Captain Black, and it is evident that much has been achieved; for the new cars mark him out as a pioneer of the foremost rank, not only in the British motor industry, but in the motor industry of the world.

IRISH PIG TRADE.

SMALL INCREASE IN SALES.

The number of pigs bought in the Free State for curing or export in the week ended September 21st was 23,331, or 2,763 more than for the week ended 22nd September, 1932. Compared with the week ended 24th September, 1931, there is a decrease of 3,114. For the thirty-eight weeks ended September 21st, 1933, the figure is 630,934, being 53,922 less than for a similar period in 1932 and 104,114 fewer than in 1931.

In Northern Ireland 37,561 pigs were bought for the week ended September 21st, this representing an increase of 8,917 on the 1932 figure and 2,439 more than in 1931. Over the thirty-eight weeks period 928,919 had been bought, this being 29,813 less than the 1932 figure and 91,733 below the 1931 figure.

HURRICANE HAVOC IN WEST INDIES.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE HOMELESS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Cattle have been drowned, houses destroyed and hundreds of people rendered homeless by yet another hurricane, which has swept across the West Indies and up the western coast of Mexico. Only ten days ago the same area was devastated by a hurricane which whirled along the coast, leaving a trail of destruction in its wake, and causing the death of over 90 people.

At Tampico, where 67 persons were reported to have been killed last week, all communications are again interrupted, and nothing has been heard for five hours.

A prolonged storm at San Salvador has done extensive damage. Rivers have overflowed their beds, and hundreds of cattle have been drowned.

The entire city of Progreso is threatened by the River Ulua, which has swollen as a result of heavy rains.

Many valuable banana plantations are flooded, and the waters menacing the city with one of the worst inundations of recent years.

Torrential rains in Central Trinidad have destroyed property and crops, and brought all traffic to a standstill. Communications are interrupted, and, although no fatalities are reported, hundreds of people have been rendered homeless.

A warning that a tropical disturbance, accompanied by winds of hurricane force, was moving inland from the Mexican coast was issued by the Washington Weather Bureau last night.

NEW YORK, Monday.

According to a Pan-American Airways report, many were killed and injured by the latest hurricane at Tampico. Considerable damage also was done to property. The wind attained a velocity of 110 to 125 miles an hour.

RESCUE WORK.

Martial law has been declared at Tampico. The hurricane is regarded as the worst catastrophe in the history of the city, according to a wireless message received from a Pan-American Airways pilot, and troops are engaged in rescue work and rendering first aid to the sufferers.

The Mexican Government has ordered all possible means of assistance to be rushed immediately to the stricken areas.

BRITISH PILGRIMS IN ROME.

WORKING MEN TO SEE THE POPE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Monday.

Echoing to the strains of the hymn, "God Bless Our Pope," sung by 4:0 British working men, the special train carrying the British unemployed pilgrimage steamed into Rome Station this evening.

The party had travelled straight through from Boulogne in third-class carriages with wooden seats, many of the compartments holding eight or nine men, but, despite this discomfort, the men were in the highest spirits.

All through the night Father Martindale, chaplain to the pilgrimage, walked up and down the long train dispensing hot tea from flasks. At the stations on the way there were scenes reminiscent of the movement of British troops in wartime.

Spectators rubbed their eyes as the train drew up and cheerful men, strangely resembling old-time "Tommies," jumped out and haggled jokingly in broken French or Italian with refreshment sellers.

"Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the journey," Mr. William Teeling said to Reuter. "They were most impressed by the mountain scenery. Those interested in engineering were struck by the fine engineering achievements visible along the line in Italy."

In Rome the party were met by leading British ecclesiastics and drove off in motor buses to the religious hostels at which they are staying.

The unemployed pilgrims will visit the regulation pilgrimage churches, and will be received by the Pope on Thursday.

ONE-LEGGED MOTORIST CHARGED.

SENTENCED TO IMPRISONMENT.

Six months' imprisonment and life suspension of licence was the order in a case heard at the Old Bailey, London, yesterday, which was described by Mr. Justice Swift as the worst case of motor manslaughter which he had come across.

A one-legged motorist, Ernest Stretton (52), a railway trimmer's assistant, who hobbled into the dock on crutches, was found guilty of the manslaughter of Frederick Burnham, of Feltham, on the night of July 18.

Mr. G. B. McClure, who prosecuted, said that Burnham and his fiancée, Miss Brooks, were cycling on the road from Staines to Ashford, when Stretton's car came behind Miss Brooks, narrowly missing her, and struck Burnham, carrying him fifty-three feet and his cycle another fifty-six feet. Burnham was so badly injured that he died a few hours later. The car did not stop, but Stretton was traced to his home, where he stated to a police officer that he saw a cyclist and hit something which smashed his windscreen, but as he did not see anything he did not stop.

Stretton was also seen by a doctor, who came to the conclusion that he was recovering from having taken a good deal of alcohol.

Stretton stated that he lost his leg in the war in 1916.

The judge, in passing sentence, said that Stretton ought never to have been allowed to drive a motor car, and he did not understand how in the world the authorities came to give him a licence.

ULSTER SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

FIFTH ISSUE NEXT WEEK.

A new issue of Ulster Savings Certificates will be on sale throughout Northern Ireland on Monday next, and the present issue will be withdrawn on Saturday.

The initial purchase price of 16s. per certificate is being retained, but the maturity period has been fixed at twelve years (as compared with seven years for the current issue), and the ultimate value is altered from £1 to 23s. The rate of interest on the fifth issue certificates is somewhat over 3 per cent. compound, and corresponds exactly to that paid by the Imperial Government on National Savings Certificates issued since 1st June last.

Ulster Savings Certificates were first placed on sale on 1st April, 1922, and the total sales to date approximate to 9½ million certificates, representing about £6,000,000 invested. The withdrawals to date exceed £2,000,000, and £270,000 interest has been paid thereon.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT'S EMPLOYEES.

ONE IN EVERY FORTY-ONE OF POPULATION.

There are nearly one million Government employés in France out of a total population of forty-one millions, according to figures published by the Ministry of the Budget in the official journal.

There are altogether 836,300 State employés, composed of 511,041 civil servants, 190,349 military employés, and 135,000 miscellaneous State servants.

Of the 700,000 permanent officials in this total (states Reuter from Paris) 26,000 receive salaries of less than £120. The greatest number—148,000—are paid between £250 and £1,250. Only 383 receive more than £1,250.

"MISTAKEN SENSE OF PATRIOTISM."

TIPPERARY YOUTHS SENT TO JAIL.

There was a sequel to the first public meeting of the United Ireland Organisation in Thurles recently when at Clonmel Court three young men of the labouring class pleaded guilty to throwing a stone at a motor car on the road from Cashel to Clonmel on the night of the meeting, as a result of which James Lyons, Clonmel, driver of the car, received injury to the eye and ear.

The defendants were William Halloran, Ballynattin; Edmond Ryan, Knockeevan, and John Mullins, Ballyhemican.

Mr. J. G. Skinner, solicitor for the defence, said that he did not know what to say as their act was most reprehensible and blackguardly. They were respectable boys suffering from a peculiar and mistaken sense of patriotism. There was never any previous charge against them.

District Justice Troy said that he considered the charge as very serious. He took into account the fact that the defendants had expressed regret for what had happened, and sentenced Mullins and Ryan to six weeks' hard labour, and Halloran to a month's hard labour.

APPOINTMENT OF CLERK OF WORKS.

APPLICANT FOR POSITION IN PRISON.

The architect, Mr. Boyd-Barrett, Cork, wrote to Killarney Mental Hospital recommending the appointment of Mr. Michael Kennedy, Tralee, for the position of clerk of works to the new building scheme. There were six applications for the position.

Miss Breen proposed that Mr. C. McCarthy, one of the applicants, be appointed. Miss Breen stated that this applicant was not in a position to go before the architect.

Mr. P. O'Shea moved that the position be readvertised, and stated that if Mr. McCarthy was unable to attend that he be visited in prison.

On the proposition of Mr. O'Shea, and seconded by the Chairman, it was decided to readvertise, all the applicants, including Mr. McCarthy, to be interviewed by Mr. Boyd-Barrett.

TWO MEN FEARED DROWNED.

THIRD MAN SWIMS FIVE MILES FOR HELP.

When Mr. J. Carlyle, Swanage, and two Parkstone men, Messrs. Frederick Vale and William Gamble, were returning from Swanage to Parkstone, after seeing Mr. Scott Paine in his record-breaking speed attempts in Poole Harbour, yesterday, their sailing dinghy capsised off Old Harry Rocks, in Studland Bay.

Mr. Carlyle decided to swim for help, and after swimming five miles reached some sandbanks in an exhausted condition. He was able to cry for help, and attract attention, and after telling of the plight of his companions, Poole and Swanage lifeboats were sent out on search.

Rescue efforts were hampered, however, by the thick mist.

It is reported that an oil tanker bound for Poole has picked up the boat, but the two men are still missing, and it is feared they are drowned.

Mr. Carlyle is lying at a doctor's house in a state of collapse.

R.A.F. PILOT KILLED.

'PLANE CRASHES AT 180 M.P.H.

An R.A.F. pilot, Sergeant William Molesworth Hodge, Cardiff, was killed when an aeroplane crashed at Thorney Island, Emsworth, Hants, yesterday. The aeroplane hit the ground at a speed of between 180 and 200 miles per hour, and buried its nose two yards into the ground in a field, twenty-five yards away from where a gardener (Mr Stevens) was working.

Stevens rushed to the spot. Fortunately the aeroplane did not take fire, but it was obvious that the pilot was dead. The ambulance was rushed over from Tangmere Aerodrome, and after considerable difficulty the body was extricated from the wreckage. The aeroplane was a single-seater.

Describing the accident, Mr. Nilsson, who lives near the scene of the accident, said that the pilot seemed to have been doing a certain amount of stunt flying at a tremendous height. Then he made a spiral dive earthwards for about a mile, went into a large loop, then went up again at full throttle. It looked as if he were going to do another loop, but instead he went straight into the ground, his engine still roaring madly away. There was a terrific crash when the aeroplane hit the ground.

KILLED ON WAY TO HARVEST FESTIVAL.

ARCHDEACON'S WIDOW DESCRIBES SKID.

A verdict of accidental death was recorded at the inquest at Appleby, Westmorland, yesterday, on the Venerable D. F. Campbell, Archdeacon of Carlisle, who was killed when a car, driven by his wife, overturned on the way to a Harvest Festival on Sunday evening.

Mr. Campbell said that, on account of the danger of skidding on the wet road, she drove with particular care at corners and when descending hills. She was travelling at about 45 miles an hour, and when near Coopland Beck, beyond Appleby, the back wheels suddenly skidded to the left. There was no one on the road at the time. The car returned to its proper side and passed on to the grass verge, where it stopped, facing almost in the opposite direction to that in which they were travelling. She did not think that she applied the brakes. The car was not on the grass verge more than a second when it did a jump and turned right over.

Mrs. Campbell climbed out of the back window and escaped without a scratch. She asked the Archdeacon if he was all right, but received no reply. The car had turned completely over and the four wheels were in the air.

Her impression was that the sliding roof of the car had blown open as the car fell and that her husband's head had passed partly through the opening and been caught by the falling car. The whole weight of the car was on his head.

INTER-CLUB ANGLING.

MACROOM WINS GRAHAM CUP.

The Munster Inter-Club Trout Angling competition for the Graham cup and set of medals took place on Killarney Lakes last Sunday, three clubs participating: Sunday's Well, Cork, and Macroom.

The winning team (Macroom) consisted of the following:—Messrs. J. F. Ryan (captain), A. Wylie, E. Dale, R. Dale, J. W. Daunt, N. J. Markham.

The following were the winners in the other competitions, for which prizes were also offered:—Messrs. George O'Connell, M. Doyle, R. J. Fitzgibbon, J. Sheehan, A. E. Hosford, J. Long, T. W. L. Tivy, J. H. Wharton, C. E. L. Olden, H. Sowersby, D. Looney, G. Walker, J. Bird.

SHIP'S OFFICER DIES FROM MALARIA.

A ship's officer has died, and two firemen are seriously ill, following attacks of malaria on the s.s. Hindpool, which put into Fishguard during the week-end on its way to Glasgow from Sierra Leone.

The dead officer was Charles Leslie Drammer, of Grimsby, and his body was landed at Fishguard.

The two sick men, one named Ritchie, of South Shields, and the other, Goggins, of Sunderland, were conveyed to Haverfordwest Hospital.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

PRICES DECLINE SLIGHTLY IN SLOW TRADING.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Monday.

Business on the Stock Exchange was dull to-day, with operators unable to reach a definite conclusion regarding the immediate trend in view of the Administration's implied fiscal policies. The general list finished rather lower, followng a turn-over of 1,310,000 shares.

The opening was irregular. Early disturbing influences were the improvement in the dollar and the material set-back in wheat. Prices sagged under a quiet, but persistent, pressure, with Rail, Metal and "Wet" stocks showing a very vulnerable aspect.

In the afternoon the market moved in a slow and indecisive manner, traders either liquidating portions of their holdings or keeping off entirely. Steel shares made no response to the announcement that President Roosevelt had conferred with the leading steel authorities regarding purchases of railway equipment. It is understood that the railroads are ready to buy some 500,000 tons of rails, but the price question is the chief impediment to the transaction.

In the final dealings the market fluctuated nervously, and the close was easy.

The rally in the dollar to-day somewhat disconcerted the currency inflationists. Moreover, there was a revival of the recent rumours that some sort of "sound money" statement would soon emanate from Washington.

The publication Steel, in estimating the activity of mills last week at 40 per cent. of capacity, expresses the opinion that a hardening of prices would prompt active contracting for October-December business.

Mexican Petroleum Company, which is controlled by Standard Oil of New Jersey, reports a net loss for the first six months of 2,484,000 dollars, compared with 2,254,000 dollars last year.

Mr. RUPERT CROFT COOKE

the Brilliant Author of "Cosmopolis," "Night Out," etc., writes:

"I needed a sound tonic to keep going when I wrote 'Night Out' just under two months. I worked at intense brain pressure, and doubt whether I could have completed my book in time without the aid of Phosferine. Plenty of energy is necessary for abilities to have full play, and I know Phosferine is so vitalising that one can do a good day's work without any exhaustion of the nervous forces."

I KEEP 'WORK FIT'

by renewing Vitality with PHOSFERINE

Mr. Frank Watts writes:

"I keep enjoyably 'work fit' with Phosferine, which for many years has enabled me to feel well, cheerful, and confident. Any depressed feeling simply fades away after a few doses of Phosferine, and I feel a new man. I find Phosferine makes the nerves stronger and steadier, and is a splendid protection from debility, lassitude, exhaustion, and sleeplessness. Phosferine makes one feel young, fresh and vigorous." Frank Watts, 20, Essex Road, Leyton.

DUBLIN METHODIST COUNCIL.

The preliminary September meeting of the Dublin Methodist Council for the session 1933-4 was held in the Centenary Church Parlour and was presided over by the Rev. J. M. Alley, President. The co-option of twelve members to complete the constitution of the Council resulted in the election of the following:—Mrs. Bagnall, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. R. P. McHugh, Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. H. G. Smith, B.A.; Messrs. T. J. Bagnall, D. B. Bradshaw, A. Booth, LL.B.; E. Crowe, W. Harris, J. Smith and R. H. White. The membership of the Council comprises also thirty ministers, sixty representatives elected by the various quarterly boards of the Methodist churches in Dublin and townships, and twenty ex-officio members, including past vice-presidents.

It was intimated that at the meeting to be held on the 5th prox. the Rev. F. B. Rea, of Belfast, and the Rev. J. Aubrey West, of Castlebar, will address the Council on the religious and political aspects of the existing interesting situation in Germany, as observed by them during a recent visit to that country. The officers and committee of the Council for the session will be appointed at the October meeting.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

A Jubilee Festival Service will be held in St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Clane, on Friday, the 29th inst., at 3.30 p.m. The Bishop of Meath will preach the festival sermon. This church is one of the most beautiful parish churches in Ireland, having been erected fifty years ago by the late Mr. Cooke Trench in memory of his wife. There are some interesting examples of scrafudo and cloisonné work in the decoration, the latter including two miles of copper ribbon.

The incumbency of Ballyfin and the curacies-in-charge of Coolbanagher and of Ballycommon are vacant.

The Rev. R. J. Kerr, curate of Derry Cathedral, has been appointed curate-in-charge of Convoy, Co. Donegal. He was ordained in 1929 for Donaghcloney Parish, and went to the Cathedral two years later.

The Rev. F. W. S. Tomplin has been instituted to the incumbency of Dungannstown and Redcross by the Archdeacon of Glendalough.

Mr. Samuel Johnston, Hill street, Lurgan, has been appointed sexton of Shankill (Lurgan) Parish Church in succession to his brother, the late Mr. John M. Johnston.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

SURPRISES IN STORE?

ALTERED GOING LIKELY TO CAUSE UPSETS IN FORM.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

NEWMARKET, Monday Night.

A GREAT deal of rain has fallen during the week-end, so it seems as if the long period of drought has at last come to an end, a circumstance which no one will regret. We must now be prepared for a period of soft going and astonishing alterations of form.

CESAREWITCH BETTING.

There was a call-over of the card on the Cesarewitch in London this morning., when Hyperion's half-brother, Guiscard, who was well backed at the end of last week, displaced Ximenes as favourite. This was not surprising in view of the defeat of the grey horse on Saturday. While Guiscard was at 8 to 1 chance, Ximenes went out to 100 to 9. Beau Frere was backed a little, as was Negro, and Sandals and Roi de Paris, both attractive candidates, were at 22 to 1. In all Guiscard was backed to win about £9,000 and Ximenes to win about £5,000. Over Beau Frere 1,000 to 50 was taken eight times.

Gainslaw was taken out of the Cesarewitch this morning, a development that was expected, as it has been found impossible to train him on the hard ground. His chance, anyhow, at the weights was not a particularly good one. I imagine that the racing this week here will not tell us much about the Cesarewitch, but there are a couple of handicaps next week at Nottingham that should be informative.

SELECTIONS.

Seeing that Tetrapylon lost caste at Doncaster, the opposition to ALISHAH in the Buckenham Stakes here to-morrow may not be formidable, and he should be the first of several winners which the Aga Khan may have this week.

The Great Eastern Handicap is an interesting sprint, in which The Divot, who is top weight, will find the going more in his favour than it was at Doncaster, when he was just beaten out of a place in the Portland Stakes. He may not, however, give the weight to GRINDLETON if the latter runs up to his form at Doncaster, where Fonab only shot-headed him on the post.

The Great Foal Stakes should go to the Oaks winner, CHATELAINE.

GALTEE MORE.

VOTE FOR GRINDLETON.

ALISHAH'S BIG CHANCE IN THE BUCKENHAM STAKES.

The remaining meetings of the season at Newmarket are the First October, the Second October, and the Houghton fixtures. The First October, which starts to-morrow, is the quietest of the three; but, as is always the case at Turf headquarters, the proceedings will be highly interesting, with good-sized fields for the majority of events.

At the opening stage backers should find the Great Eastern Handicap the most intriguing problem: it is decided over the six furlongs Bretby course, and most of the runners are sprinters of good class. The Divot fully deserves his position at the top of the scale; for he has been thereabouts in all his races, and the easier galloping conditions now prevailing should be greatly in his favour. It was on good going at Ascot that he registered his finest performance when beating Heroulea and Alluvial over six furlongs in the Cork and Orrery Stakes.

There is a big "tip" for Scattercash, who has been running consistently well all the season. Sneyd's charge will be better suited by this distance than when fourth to Fonab over seven furlongs at Doncaster, but on that form he has little chance of beating Grindleton, who was a very close second and has a pull of 4lb. Had the result of that race been available when Mr. Fawcett compiled to-day's handicap it is certain that Grindleton would not have been so well treated. Apart from his big chance at the weights, it is worth bearing in mind the fact that Cundell's charge always runs well at Newmarket, and he was second in the corresponding event twelve months ago.

Unlikely was unimpressive in his last two races, but he may do better now that the ground is softer. Anyway, on Brighton running last month he should account for Crumpets. Both Faria and Straniero, particularly the latter, went well in their last gallops, and will certainly not be beaten without a struggle. Loot is a consistent sort, and also enters into the argument. He won over the distance at Goodwood, and previously over the July course when he beat Crumpets by half-a-length. Now, however, he is 5lb. worse off with Kirk's charge.

The French-bred filly, Spirituelle II., has, I am told, been satisfactorily galloped since her runaway success at Leicester. She has better company to meet here, but is very speedy, and is reported to be well fancied. In a very open race I take my chance with being influenced by the fact that he is the most likely one to run true to form on the altered conditions underfoot.

The Buckenham Stakes field will be small, but select. Haytime is expected to put up a bolder show here than at Liverpool, while Scobie will also saddle a fancied one from Borrow and Arcona; but I regard the race as virtually a match between Alishah and Tetrapylon. Fred Darling thought the last-named unlucky at Doncaster when just beaten out of a place. I believe she is still capable of making improvement, but is a nailing good colt, and is my confident selection.

Gordon Richards may increase his total by taking the Great Foal Stakes on who is probably more dependable than either Jim Thomas or Coronado. Chatelaine is a big danger.

JOY RIDE,

Enfield and Hainaloe have proved their stamina in public, and might occupy the leading positions at the finish of the Abingdon Nursery. I prefer them as named.

It is not a paying policy, as a rule, to be confident about solving a nursery problem, but I cannot see anything beating in the Dalzell Handicap at Hamilton Park.

FALCON

NEWMARKET NOTES.

SEMINOLE IN TRIM FOR KEMPTON: TO-DAY'S HINTS.

NEWMARKET, Monday

WE had a good deal of rain during the night, but the morning opened fine. Frank Butters took his first team to the Bury side, and Lucky Patch, who pleased in his good stripped gallop on Saturday, again moved freely and well in a good useful seven furlong spin with Pyrus, Witch Doctor II., and Taj ud Din. The last-named appears to be none the worse for his Newbury race, and, despite his weight, will be very difficult to beat for the Newmarket October Handicap on Wednesday.

Dastur, in company with Felicitation, Gino, Young Lover and Shamsuddin, strode out well in a useful seven furlong spin. Amoretto, Alishah and Pour Au Four went sharply five furlongs.

Captain Boyd-Rochfort gave his Duke of York Stakes candidate, Seminole, a nice pace gallop over one mile, and he is in capital trim to meet next Saturday's engagement. Loaningdale was given a similar gallop, and, being so well at present, will prove very difficult to beat for the Jockey Club Stakes here on Thursday.

Fred Butters rattled Artistic along over six furlongs with Sandmaiden. The former appears to be returning to her best form, and will give a good account of herself in the Clayton Handicap here on Wednesday.

B. Jarvis gave Astronomer, Conversion and Coronado, who are engaged here to-morrow, a good five furlongs burst. The nearest Astronomer has got to winning a race this season was when second to Bright Spark, to whom he was giving 15lb., and was just beaten for the Somersham Stakes here in May. It is quite obvious that this son of Solario is a better horse at Newmarket than elsewhere, and he will be a danger to the best of them in the Trial Selling Plate to-morrow.

The Hon. George Lambton gave his Cesarewitch Stakes horse, Guiscard (Wells), with Thrapston (Weston), Servus and Highlander, a nice mile spin, and now that the going is yielding, it will be in favour of Lord Derby's five-year-old. Joy Ride, with Spade, had a nice six furlongs spin. The former, who is due to run for the Abingdon Mile Nursery, is much better now than when he won at Doncaster, and he will again be bang on the premises

D. Waugh's Duke of York Stakes candidate, Bargany, with Tonic Water, Quillon, and Coup de Lyon, had a nice mile spin.

Digby was on the Racecourse side, and gave Double Bell, Tide Table, and Mon Beguin a good mile and a quarter spin. Double Bell is engaged in the Grove Hall Handicap at Pontefract and the Autumn Handicap at Thirsk, and he will be difficult to beat in his selected race.

I have already mentioned that Astronomer generally does better over this course than away, and he will run well for the Trial Selling Plate, but I like better the chance of Peace Pact and

and I give the latter the preference.

It was on the July course that Alishah beat

HAYTIME,

but the latter has made grand headway since, and should win the Buckenham Stakes.

Crumpets beat Spirituelle II. in the Stewards' Cup, but the latter has won in the meantime. Both should beat Shimmer in the Great Eastern Handicap, and I give the preference to CRUMPETS.

B. Jarvis will saddle Conversion and for the Great Foal Stakes, and I prefer the latter.

CORONADO

We have a lot of runners for the Isleham Claiming and Selling Plate. Muscovile, Swastella, and are fancied runners, and I give the last-named preference.

The Abingdon Mile Nursery will be an interesting race. Joy-Ride will be in better condition than when he won at Doncaster, and Pomme Au Four will carry his penalty creditably. Enfield will be a danger to the best, but my vote goes to

JOY RIDE*

The 84th Triennial Stakes looks at the mercy of LISTOWEL OPENING.

GOLDEN GEORGE FANCIED TO WIN FROM BIG FIELD.

Train—Kingsbridge, 7 a.m.

THERE is no more popular meeting in the South of Ireland than the three days' fixture held annually at Listowel. Unfortunately, the opening day's card on this occasion will be confined to four events; for the only runner declared for the Listowel Plate is Dinmore. The other four races, however, promise to be very interesting, and for the County Plate there will be fifteen runners. Many horses will be fancied for this, but if Golden George, who recently has been given a much-needed rest from racing, can produce anything like his best form he should win. Selections:—

Abbeyfeale Plate—Jolly Princess.
Ballybunion Plate—Tag Loch.
Castleisland Plate—Rushmere.
County Plate—Golden George.

ATHLETICS.

DR. O'CALLAGHAN'S GREAT THROW.

IRISH RECORD TO BE APPLIED FOR.

The Enniscorthy Athletic Sports' Committee have asked Mr. R. Ennis, B.E., Assistant County Surveyor, to certify the remarkable hammer throw of 186 feet 1½ inches made by Dr. O'Callaghan, the Olympic champion, on Sunday at Enniscorthy. The hammer is being sent to the N.A.C.A. Council, Dublin, to be weighed and measured with the object of having the throw officially recognised, and a certificate of the record issued.

Dr. O'Callaghan's great feat was achieved under most unfavourable circumstances, the day being very wet and cold. The throw was against a slight incline of ground and against a fairly strong wind. There was also the absence of the stimulus of competition, as the only other competitor, W. Gore, D.M.G., registered 149 feet as his best effort.

It was at Enniscorthy in 1900 that John Mangan, the Co. Wexford athlete, made a record in the 56lb. over bar at 15ft. 0½ins. The net throws on Sunday were: Power, Kilmacow, 14ft. 5ins.; Costelloe, Portarlington, 14ft. 1in.; Gore, D.M.G., and Tobin, Clonmel, 14ft.; Brennan, D.M.G., 13ft.

As Mangan also made a record of 32ft. 5ins. in the 56lb. between legs with follow in 1899, the following figures of the principal competitors on Sunday are of interest:—Dr. O'Callaghan (scr.), 31ft. 5¼ins.; Brennan, D.M.G. (3ft. 0ins.), 30ft. 1in.; Power, Kilmacow (1ft.), 29ft. 2½ins.; Gore, D.M.G. (1ft.), 29ft.; Costelloe, Portarlington (scr.), 28ft. 5ins.; Tobin, Clonmel (1ft.), 27ft.

GREYHOUND RACING.

GRAND NATIONAL TRIAL STAKE.

CUTLET'S DOONANE'S SUCCESS.

The Grand National Trial Stake was won by Cutlet's Doonane at Shelbourne Park last night. He got badly away, and was well behind for half the distance, but drew level at the third jump, and went away to win cleverly by three lengths. The Oaks Trial Stake produced the only close finish of the night. Ardagh East was made favourite, but was shut out at the first bend, and was never in the race. Bab took the lead early and held it all through, but Loophole made a great finish, and would have won inside another yard. It was a bad night for favourites, only two winning—Earldom in the first race and Feale Flake in the third race. Both led all the way and came home well. Galbally Gift and Black Barney both fell in the Celtic Hurdle when in the lead. Results:—

PRODUCE TRIAL STAKE—Miss M. Egan's bk. d. EARLDOM (1) (Will Somers—Queen of Cuba), evens, 1; Mr. J. Carroll's ANTILLIAN (2), 6 to 1, 2; Mr. R. Byrne's PRINCE OIR (6), 10 to 1, 3. Also ran—Wellmeaner (5), 4 to 1; Six Bells (4), 10 to 1; Lons Mover (3), 5 to 2. Six lengths; four lengths. 31.39 secs.

CELTIC HURDLE—Mr. V. Kidd's f. d. KID'S CAP (6) (Beaded Dick—Steam Whistle), 4 to 1, 1; Mr. J. Maguire's JOBSMITH (3), 7 to 2, 2; Mr. T. Kissane's BLACK BARNEY (1), 2 to 1, 3. Also ran—Galbally Gift (4), 7 to 4. A distance; same. 34.04 secs.

SHELBOURNE STAKE—Mr. F. H. Latchford's w. be. or bk. d. FEALE FLAKE (1) (Feale Hill—Alleva), evens, 1; Miss N. Quinn's QUAKER BOOK (6), 5 to 2, 2; Mr. S. McGawley's FALSE ECONOMY (2), 6 to 1, 3. Also ran—Gracedieu Loafer (4), 5 to 1; Straggling Town (3), 5 to 1. Two lengths; six lengths. 31.11 secs.

Dr. Spotswood, sea-angling at Waterville Bay, had 60 mackerel and 100 pollock.

CARAGH LAKE.

The rainfall improved conditions, and trout-anglers had excellent sport. Results:—Mr. Ogilvie, 40 brown trout; Mr. Connop, 28; Mr. and Miss Lidum, 35; Colonel Silberry, 17; Mr. Shiach, 50; Colonel Walker, 37; Dr. Shiach and Colonel Green, 27; Mr. Wall and Mr. Smith, 19.

SWIMMING.

SCHOOLS' TITLE FOR J. TALLON.

RECORD ENTRY FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The annual gala of the Wesley College Swimming Club at the Iveagh Baths last evening was a very successful and enjoyable function, and was attended by a large crowd.

Evidence of the growth of swimming in Leinster schools was afforded by the entry for the principal item, the 100 yards senior schoolboys' championship of Leinster. Twenty competed, easily a record number, and the number of schools represented (nine)—Wesley College, St. Andrew's College, Mountjoy School, Blackrock College, Castleknock College, O'Connell's Schools, Belvedere College, Dominican College, Newbridge, and The High School, Dublin—was also a record.

The time of Justin Tallon, of Belvedere College, in his heat forecasted a win for this promising young member of the noted Sandycove swimming family in the final, in which W. N. Binns, of Mountjoy School, who qualified as fastest second in the heats, surprised many by beating D. H. McNeill, of The High School, for second place. Tallon won the Leinster junior schoolboys' championship two years ago.

McNEILL'S SIX GOALS.

O'Connell Schools, newcomers to the Schools' Water Polo Cup, had a hard task in being opposed by The High School, who have a distinguished record in this competition. Although The High School won readily, the young and inexperienced O'Connell boys gave a creditable display. The High School combination was very good, and McNeill, despite his exertions in the championship, was the most prominent player in the baths. His shooting was remarkably strong and accurate, and his "bag" of six goals was fully merited.

The schoolboy events were all well contested, as was the open 88 yards men's handicap, which was won by a Mountjoy school representative, J. Tyrrell. C. E. Polden defeated the holder, C. de Courcy, in the 50 yards senior championship of the College, and in the contest for the junior title J. Scott was successful. The prizes were presented by Mr. W. B. de Courcy. Details:—

22 Yards Beginners—Final—F. Skuse, 1; I. Vard, 2; W. Sharpe, 3. Twelve competed. Won by a foot; same. Time—19 secs.

50 Yards Junior Championship—Final—J. Scott, 1; E. Hopkins, 2; A. Carry, 3. Nine competed. Won by three yards; a touch. Time—36 1-5 secs.

50 Yards Senior Championship—C. E. Polden, 1; C. de Courcy, 2; A. Carleton, 3. Five competed. Won by two yards; a yard. Time—32 3-5 secs.

66 Yards Handicap (under 16)—A. Carleton (3), 1; J. Harrison (scr.), 2; R. Gilliland (9), 3. Six competed. Won by a yard; same. Time—57 secs.

66 Yards Senior Handicap—A. Carleton (9), 1; S. Shipway (13), 2; W. Stirling (11), 3. Thirteen competed. Won by four yards; two yards.

44 Yards Junior Handicap—Final—H. Robinson (19), 1; H. Scott (9), 2; L. Doyle (17), 3. Twenty competed. Won by a yard; same.

50 Yards Old Boys' Handicap—Final—J. Nairn (6), 1; H. Harte (4), 2; J. Attwooll (2), 3. Ten competed. Won by a touch; same. Time—35 secs.

100 Yards Senior Schoolboy Championship of Leinster.—The following qualified for the final:—C. E. Polden (Wesley College), T. W. Bradley, D. H. McNeill (High School), J. Tallon (Belvedere College) and W. N. Binns (Mountjoy School).

FINAL.

J. Tallon (Belvedere College)	1
W. N. Binns (Mountjoy School)	2
D. H. McNeill (High School)	3

Binns was first at 22 yards, with Tallon and McNeill in close attendance. The Mountjoy boy held on grimly to his slender lead until near the third turn, when Tallon just got in front. Tallon gradually increased his advantage in a great duel, and went on to win a splendid race by about a yard and a half. Binns finished a yard in front of McNeill. Time—68 4-5 secs.

88 Yards Open Handicap.—Final Heat—J. Tyrrell, Mountjoy School (16), 1; W. G. Taylor, Dublin (12), 2; A. T. Rylands, Dublin University (7), 3. Twenty-five competed. Won by two lengths; a yard. Time—65 secs.

WATER POLO.

Leinster Schools' Cup.—First Round—The High School, 7; O'Connell's Schools, 1. McNeill (6) and Boyle scored for the High School and Murray for O'Connell's.

THE EARLSFORT HOUSE SCHOOL GALA.

Earlsfort House School held their annual gala at Iveagh Baths last evening, when a large number of parents and friends of the boys enjoyed an attractive programme. The feature was provided in the old boys' 66 yards race, the judge being unable to separate A. Wallace and A. B. Brooks. N. Phair became the holder of the Lyburn Cup, which goes to the winner of the 100 yards school championship.

Novices' Race—J. Forde.

22 Yards (under 14)—G. Barlee (6), 1; D. Sherriff (4), 2; R. Sherriff (6), 3.

33 Yards—M. Ellis (2), 1; G. Barlee (10), 2.

44 Yards—N. Phair (scr.), 1; R. Ellis (5), 2.

100 Yards Championship (Lyburn Cup)—N. Phair, 1; L. Orr, 2; R. Ellis, 3.

Old Boys' Race—A. Wallace and A. B. Brooks dead-heated.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GALA.

The High School will hold its annual gala to-night in Iveagh Baths, at 7.30. An attractive programmes will include the Leinster Schools' 50 Yards Junior Championship, for which there is an unusually large entry, Mountjoy School will play St. Andrew's College (holders) and Belvedere College will play Blackrock College in the first round of the Schools' Water Polo Cup. There will also be an Old Boys' race.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE GALA.

The 27th annual gala of the St. Andrew's College S.C. will be held at the Iveagh Baths to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. In addition to the usual club events two semi-finals of the Leinster Schools Water Polo Cup and the Leinster Schools' squadron championship will be decided. A team chosen from the Old Boys of the College will oppose a selected Leinster team in a squadron race and a water polo match.

OLD LEINSTER SCHOOLS V. OLD ST. ANDREW'S.

The following squadron will represent Old Leinster Schools v. Old St. Andrew's at the St. Andrew's College gala to-morrow night at Iveagh Baths:—M. Kelly (O'Connell's), F. Murphy, R. N. Case (Mountjoy), W. Kidney (Clongowes), D. Rudd (Mountjoy), and M. D. Fletcher (Earlsfort House).

MOUNTJOY SCHOOL GALA.

The final of the Leinster Schools' Water Polo Cup and the water drills of the Life-Saving Cup competition will be held at the gala of the Mountjoy School on Thursday next. Old boys who wish to compete in the old boys' race are requested to give in their names early on the night of the gala, which will commence at 7 o'clock.

GUINNESS'S S.C. GALA.

The programme for the Guinness's S.C. gala at Iveagh Baths on Friday next includes a ladies' water polo match between Donegall S.C., Belfast, and the Leinster Ladies' Water Polo Club; the Irish Cup tie between Clontarf and Dublin, boys' 44 yards handicap (open), and men's 88 yards (open).

BOXING.

CROSSLEY BEATS SMITH.

Harry Crossley (Mexborough) won on points from Charlie Smith (Deptford) in a twelve rounds contest at Leicester last night. In the early stages Crossley forced the pace. His counters to the body were a feature of the contest, and frequently they found Smith "open." On the other hand, Smith often missed with his left, but in the middle part of the fight Smith improved. He scored with a right to the head and a left to the body, and livened matters with a two-handed attack, forcing his man to the ropes. Continuing his tactics, Smith landed with a left to the body, which shook his opponent. The last two rounds distinctly were Crossley's; but, although Smith was tiring, he kept his feet until Crossley was declared a good winner.

Ex-Sergeant Peters, the winner of this year's A.B.A. welter-weight championship, beat Horace Barber (Leicester) on points in a ten rounds contest.

McCORKINDALE'S TITLE WITHDRAWN.

JOHANNESBURG, Monday.

As Doc. McCorkindale has not repudiated the statement attributed to him and his manager, Mr. Broadribb, regarding alleged "misleading criticisms" of the refereeing of his contest with Young Stribling here last December, the Transvaal Boxing Board of Control decided to-day to declare the South African heavyweight title, hitherto held by McCorkindale, vacant.

Last February the Board suspended the licences issued to McCorkindale and his manager, and gave them six months in which to apologise.

TARLETON RALLIES AND EARNS A DRAW.

RECORDS BROKEN BY TWO ASSISTANTS.

Ryder Cup players of the future, among them relations of first-class professionals, showed their golfing qualities at Moor Park yesterday in the qualifying stages of the £750 assistants tournament. The successful men had to play excellent golf to reach the match play stages, which will start to-day, and the scoring was almost on a par with that of senior professionals.

Professionals records for the two courses were established by J. Fallon (Huddersfield), who went round the west course in heavy rain in 67, and by H. E. Osborne, the assistant to his father at Newquay, who had 70 on the more difficult high course. Osborne led the qualifiers with 143. Only once did Fallon, who was second, take three putts, and he sent down several long ones.

DUBLIN INSURANCE G.S.

The Inter-Office Shield (foursomes, strokes) was played for at Rathfarnham on Saturday and was retained by the Norwich Union, W. H. Lumley and H. P. Bolingbroke returning a nett 73. The Yorkshire (H. P. Macdougald and J. McB. Stephen) were runners-up with 73½. A fourball sweepstake in the afternoon resulted in a tie between G. Kirkland and T. Staples (Northern) and J. Doyle and D. Webb (Sun) with 4 up.

NEWLANDS.

Notwithstanding the unfavourable weather on Sunday, there was a good entry for the captain's (Mr. P. J. Cregan) prize, eighty-four members taking out cards. The competition was played over 27 holes, and the winner was J. Cunningham, with a nett 97. Other scores were:—Dr. A. Butler, 102½; G. Guilfoyle, 104; Commandant D. J. Stapleton, 104½. In the evening the annual dinner was held in the clubhouse, at which one hundred were present. Among the guests were Mr. Morton, from Glasgow; Mr. John McGrath, and Mr. Manning, who, with J. Bennett, R. Coyle, E. Tucker, T. O'Malley and J. Brady, contributed to an enjoyable musical entertainment.

LAWN TENNIS.

TILDEN BEATS COCHET IN STRAIGHT SETS.

W. T. Tilden (America) beat Henri Cochet (France) in straight sets by 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in the Franco-American professional match, which concluded at the Stade Roland Garros, Paris, yesterday, with a win for America by four matches to one.

The contest was noteworthy as being the first occasion on which Cochet played as a professional and the first time for three years that he had met Tilden. Although Cochet was victorious in 1930, Tilden showed that he is still the marvellous player he was in the height of his career as an amateur, and that even at forty years of age against the Frenchman's thirty-two he has, if anything, improved with increasing years, while Cochet is not the Cochet of old.

In addition to the Tilden-Cochet match two other matches were played. Bruce Barnes, of America, beat Martin Pina, of France, former holder of the world's professional title, in the opening match by 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, while America also won the doubles, which had been abandoned owing to rain from the previous day, with the scores at one set all, and America leading 4-1 in the second set. Yesterday America, represented by Tilden and Barnes, won the third and the fourth set for match from Cochet and Pina, to win by 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

"UP THE REPUBLIC" SHOUTS IN NORTH.

YOUNG MAN FINED.

At Portadown Petty Sessions yesterday Harry Creaney, Curran street, Portadown, was charged with riotous behaviour on September 3.

Constable Canning said that the defendant was one of a number of young men who were shouting in Corcrain, "Up the Republic," "Wrap the green flag round me," and singing "A Soldier's Song." Defendant, who had a gramaphone horn, gave his name as Patrick M'Donald.

Mr. Herbert Sewell, Town Clerk, asked the Court to put this conduct down, and added that, according to certain information he had, the people of Corcrain would stop it.

Mr. David Rock, M.B.E., J.P., said that it was a very cheeky thing for defendant and those other lads to shout such things in a Protestant locality, and the Court took a serious view of it.

Defendant was fined 40s. and costs.

RAIL TRAVELLING INCREASES.

ENGLISH COMPANIES CARRY MORE EXCURSIONISTS.

A remarkable change from ordinary fares to period excursion fares on British railways is shown by the return issued by the British Ministry of Transport of the railway statistics covering the period up to the end of June.

During the first six months of this year the passenger journeys made—excluding season ticket holders—totalled 544,736,215, or an increase of 1,978,709 on the corresponding period of 1932. The principal variations were:—Standard or ordinary fares, 180,667,742—decrease, 9,524,817; day and half-day excursions, 190,927,339—increase, 10,446,044; period excursion, 9,561,360—increase, 6,056,164.

The passenger receipts during the first six months this year aggregated £21,385,182, which was £171,278 below the total for the similar period last year.

The freight train receipts for the 26 weeks ended July 15 amounted to £42,182,865, a reduction of £2,506,489 on the corresponding figures for last year.

The return for June shows that 102,828,835 passenger journeys were made during that month, an increase on June, 1932, of 6,489,240. Standard or ordinary fares fell by 1,293,721, but the increases included 5,592,322 in day and half-day excursions, and 3,796,059 in period excursions.

POST FOR IRISH AIRMAN.

CAPT. SAUL'S BROTHER.

BY OUR AIR CORRESPONDENT.

Sailing from England to-day, a Dublin man is to go to Iraq to command the Royal Air Force Flying Boat Station at Basra. He is Group Captain R. E. Saul, D.F.C., a brother of Captain J. P. Saul, who was a member of the crew of the monoplane, Southern Cross, on the successful trans-Atlantic flight from Portmarnock Strand three years ago.

Group Captain Saul has been in the Royal Air Force since 1916, when it was the Royal Flying Corps, and was recently promoted to his present rank from the post of Wing Commander. At Basra he will be in charge of No. 203 Flying Boat Squadron.

This station has grown considerably in importance during the past few years, since the inception of the Empire air route to Rangoon, and is likely to be developed still further in the near future, as the Imperial Airways Company has an increasing traffic on this route, which will be extended to Australia next year.

Captain J. P. Saul has just received the Segrave bronze medal in connection with the award of the Segrave Trophy to Air Commodore Kingsford Smith. The Segrave Trophy is a memorial to the late Sir Henry Segrave for the best achievement in aviation, motoring, or motor boating, and the award to Kingsford Smith was made in honour of his trans-Atlantic flight of June, 1930. Bronze medals have also been presented to the other members of the crew—Mr. Evert van Dyk (the reserve pilot) and Mr. J. W. Stannage (wireless operator).

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. P. T. Montford presided at the weekly meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday in the Metropole Restaurant.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. F. M. Summerfield) announced that the chief speaker at next Monday's meeting would be Surgeon Stokes, and that his subject would be: "Arthur Guinness and the Dublin Hospitals."

For the eighth annual conference of the Rotary clubs of Ireland, which will be held at the Northern Counties Hotel, Portrush, on Wednesday next, complete arrangements had been made. There were to be, said Mr. Summerfield, thirty rotarians from Derry and an equal number from Cork at the conference. Belfast would exceed its record, and Dublin would, he hoped, be as well represented as the best of the other clubs. On Wednesday evening there would be a reception and dinner, at which an address would be delivered by Mr. J. A. Crabtree. On Thursday there would be two addresses—one by Dr. F. M. B. Allen, London, and the other, on "International Fellowship," by Dr. Otto Bohier, of Vienna. There would be an excursion, a golf competition and a meeting of the Irish District Council that day. On Friday morning an address on "Rotary's Place in Society" would be given by Mr. Summerfield, and there would be an excursion to Derry, luncheon in the Guildhall, where the Mayor will give the visitors a cordial welcome.

The guests of the club yesterday were Mr. R. Davis, Montreal, and Mr. P. Ness, Gravesend, Kent.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS OFFICE.

FATE OF DIRECTOR OF PARIS CASINO.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Excitement has been caused in Montmartre, the centre of Paris night-life, by the death of one of its most well-known figures, M. Oscar Dufrenne, director of the Casino de Paris and the Palace Cinema. Half an hour after midnight his dead body was found in his office half rolled up in the carpet and covered with the mattress from a divan. There were several wounds on the head, which appeared to have been made by a blunt instrument. The dead man's pocket-book was missing, and it is supposed that theft was the motive of the crime.

The office in which M. Dufrenne's body was found is in the building of the Palace Cinema, Montmartre.

M. Dufrenne was a Town Councillor of Paris and a zealous Radical. His rise to fame was a romance. His parents were upholsterers at Lille, and he worked first as a theatrical decorator. He played as a young man in the "Grand Guignol," and then founded touring companies. He played melodrama, and ultimately became managing director of the Casino de Paris and the Palace and a number of casinos, including that of Trouville. He was known as a most charitable man. It was evident that Dufrenne died defending himself, for it was his face and not the back of his head that bore the terrible injuries. No weapon was found in the office.

FATAL FALL INTO BEER VAT.

DUBLIN MAN'S DEATH.

A verdict in accordance with medical evidence was returned by the jury at the inquest on Michael Smith (44), of 17 Aberdeen street, Dublin, who died following injuries received when he fell twenty-five feet into a vat in the St. James's Gate Brewery, where he was employed, on Saturday last. The inquest was held at Steevens' Hospital, Dublin, by the acting City Coroner, Dr. John P. Shanley.

Mr. A. W. Sterling (Messrs. F. Sutton and Co., solicitors) appeared for Messrs. Guinness and Co., Ltd. An industrial inspector from the Department of Industry and Commerce, Mr. N. E. Cannon, was also present, and Inspector Killeen represented the Guards.

Mr. William Brady, a foreman employed by Messrs. Guinness, said that on the morning of the accident he instructed Smith and another man to clean out No. 6 vat. When he returned a little later he found that this had been done, and he then told Smith to draw off the cleansing water from the vat. He then went away, and the next thing he heard was that Smith had fallen into the vat. He did not think that he could have been overcome by any fumes of beer which might have been in the vat. On the morning in question Smith had appeared to be in normal health and was quite sober.

Daniel Jones, another employé in the brewery, said that he was passing the vat at about 12.30 p.m., when he heard moans coming from within. He looked down, and saw Smith lying on the floor beneath. Having summoned the brewery ambulance, he went down the ladder and supported Smith's head in his arms. He was quite conscious, and said that he had fallen from the top of the ladder to the bottom, a distance of twenty-five feet, and injured his back.

The house surgeon of the hospital attributed death to heart failure caused by fracture of the spine and other injuries.

Dr. Shanley, the acting Coroner, said that it was evident that the occurrence was purely accidental, and there was no reason to assume any negligence.

AMERICAN RAIL CHIEF SHOT DEAD.

A NATIVE OF WALES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WAYNESVILLE (NORTH CAROLINA), Monday.

Mr. Thomas Price, secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad, was shot dead as he was out riding on horseback by a man whom he had accused of poaching on his 1,200 acre estate. Two men who were riding with Mr. Price were wounded. The assailant has been brought to the prison here.

Mr. Price was a native of Wrexham, North Wales. He came to the United States early in life, and gradually rose to eminence in the management of the railways.

£10,000 CORK SCHOOL.

FOUNDATION STONE LAID.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Monday.

The Most Rev. Dr. Cohalan, Bishop of Cork, this afternoon blessed the foundation stone of the £10,000 school, which is being erected at Griffin's Field, the site of the new North-West Ward housing and slum clearance scheme. The new school will replace the existing school at Trimbath's lane.

Having blessed the stone, the Bishop said that he was very glad to see the new building scheme was nearing completion. He was delighted to note the excellent design of the houses. The new school would be the crowning feature of the scheme.

THE PAYMENT OF HOME ASSISTANCE.

The Executive Committee of the Dublin Trades Union Council passed a resolution at its weekly meeting protesting in the strongest possible manner against the exaggeration set forth in the letter read to the Dublin Board of Assistance at their meeting on Wednesday last in connection with the attitude of he unfortunate citizens who are in receipt of home assistance.

CHINESE EASTERN RAILWAY DISPUTE.

SOVIET TECHNICIANS DETAINED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

HARBIN, Monday.

The Manchukuo authorities refute the suggestion that the detention of the three Soviet technicians and a chief accountant of the Chinese Eastern Railway is a preliminary move to taking over control of the railway. It is stated that the three technicians were detained in connection with the evacuation of seventy-nine locomotives (the property of the Chinese Eastern Railway) to Soviet territory.

The chief accountant, it is alleged, was detained in connection with monetary advances to the staff and others.

In reply to a second protest by the Soviet Consul-General, the Foreign Ministry replied verbally, pointing out that the action of the Manchukuo authorities was not taken against the Chinese Eastern Railway employés as Soviet citizens, but as employés of the railway, who are responsible for any illegal actions.

SPRING CABBAGE.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Garden Correspondent says:—

We are glad to see by our seedsmen's advertisements that cabbage plants are now available. Some will say wait for rain, but those who manage to get their plants in while others are waiting will have a distinct advantage, and it can be done by puddling them in by a douche from the can-spout. We have had similar conditions to contend with, and have been surprised how quickly Cabbage plants under shortening days and lengthening dewy nights went on with a bound when rain did arrive. Always important, the spring Cabbage crop of 1934 will be doubly important.

THE COCKERELS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Young males should now be sufficiently grown to be chosen for breeding purposes, and all others should be got rid of at once. There are often numbers of cockerels running about too long, with the idea of keeping them to select from. Those required for breeding should be selected now and placed in separate pens, as they are better by themselves until required for breeding. It is sometimes difficult to make a choice, especially when there are many good ones. Pedigree should count for a great deal when the birds are being chosen, but by all means select the most vigorous birds, as stamina is most important in a male bird. No matter how beautiful the bird may look, with every good show point, vigour must come first.
